Detained ex-principal of RG Kar hints at racket

SULAGNA SENGUPTA & KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ Kolkata/New Delhi

AMID a nationwide 24-hour shutdown of OPD and elective services in protest against the August 9 rape and murder of a 31-year-old PG student, the CBI on Saturday detained Sandip Ghosh, former principal of the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital for questioning. The agency also detained a food delivery boy.

Ghosh had been summoned by the CBI on Friday, but instead of going to the agency's office, he moved a petition before the Calcutta High Court seeking immunity from arrest. The HC rejected his plea and warned that Ghosh could be charged with contempt of court.

During interrogation, Ghosh told the CBI about an illegal trade racket of medical equipment and waste disposal. He also divulged names of some influential doctors close to the state government involved in the rape-murder case, sources said. The names will be disclosed in due course, they said.

Family members of the murdered trainee doctor claimed that her diary had entries about the racket involving doctors, nurses, students and the Group D staff, but the administration refused to pay heed.

"Apart from the civic volunteer Sanjoy Roy, who has been arrested, some other big people are involved in this heinous crime and they should be arrested immediately," demanded the victim's father. P10

GOVERNOR GRANTS SANCTION TO PROSECUTE CM IN MUDA CASE

Govt itself admitted to 'big ticket scam' in site allotment, cabinet's advice irrational, says guv

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PUTTING Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in a tight spot, Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot on Saturday granted sanction to prosecute him in the alleged Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) site allotment case.

The alleged 'scam' involves MUDA "illegally" allotting 14 sites to Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathi in 2021, purportedly as compensation after the authority acquired their originally held land, which was seen as an encroachment.

The Governor's decision forced Siddaramaiah to call for a special and emergency cabinet meeting on Saturday evening. It unanimously passed a resolution to condemn the former's decision and to fight it legally.

The governor's notice sanctioning the prosecution of CM Siddaramaiah raised a hue and cry among the rank and file of Congress. But the governor in his sanction notice to CM explains his move, stating that the state government had itself accepted there was a "big ticket scam" in the allotment of sites by MUDA by constituting a committee under an IAS officer, following which one more commission under the retired HC judge to probe the case.

"Constituting a committee under an IAS officer and immediately constituting one more committee under a retired Judge of the High Court and the government's own acceptance that there is a potential big ticket scam in the allotment of sites by MUDA does not inspire much confidence," Governor Gehlot said in his notice according sanction to prosecute the CM. ROAD TO SANCTION

JULY 26: Activist TJ Abraham files a petition before the governor, seeking permission to prosecute the CM. Two others — Pradeep Kumar SP and Snehamayi Krishna — file pleas subsequently.

JULY 26: The governor issues show-cause notice to Siddaramaiah.

AUG 1: Council of Ministers pass a resolution asking Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to withdraw notice and reject the petition. The resolution sent to the Raj Bhavan on the same day.

AUG 4: Raj Bhavan receives Siddaramaiah's response (dated August 3) denying allegations.

AUG 17: The governor gives permission to prosecute the CM.

CM: Conspiracy to destabilise an elected state govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Saturday made it clear that he has no intention of resigning and accused Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot of "acting as a puppet of the Centre". The governor's decision to grant permission for his prosecution is a conspiracy to destabilise the elected government, he said.

"This is an unconstitutional move, and we will challenge it legally," he told reporters after the governor approved his prosecution in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) site allocation case. He alleged that a major conspiracy is being orchestrated by BJP, JDS and some leaders in Karnataka to bring down the state government, similar to what was done in Uttarakhand, Jharkhand and Delhi. Key 26/11 conduit Rana extraditable: US court

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

A US Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit has ruled that Pakistan-origin Canadian businessman Tahawwur Rana, one of India's most wanted terrorists, who had a key role in the Mumbai terror attack of Novermber 26, 2008, is extraditable.

A panel of three judges held that the offences Rana is being charges with fell within the terms of the extradition treaty between the US and India, which included a Non Bis in Idem (double jeopardy) exception to extraditability "when the person sought has been convicted or acquitted in the Requested State for the offence for which extradition is requested". The treaty permits Rana's extradition," the court said in its ruling on August 15 following an appeal by Rana against magistrate judge Jacqueline Chooljian's verdict allowing his extradition.

Irked motorists throw scooters off the Nelamangala flyover

Motorists fling two scooters off flyover

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IRATE motorists threw two scooters off the Nelamangala flyover in Bengaluru, after catching two scooterists performing dangerous wheelie stunts on a busy highway on August 15.

As the video went viral, many netizens lauded the motorists for teaching a hard lesson to those doing wheelies, who not only risk their lives by performing the stunts but also pose a threat to others on the road. They urged the police to pull up their socks and take severe action against those involved in such stunts so as to instill fear among others and to stop such incidents on city roads and highways.

The Thursday's incident occurred on the Bengaluru-Tumkuru National Highway in the Nelamangala traffic police limits, when two scooterists along with pillion riders were spotted performing wheelies on their scooters, causing significant disturbance to other motorists.

THE entire state soaked in the patriotic vibe, as the nation turned 78 on August 15, 2024. Independence Day was celebrated with a dazzling diplay of lights, colours, flowers, and dances, venerating the freedom of mind, faith and expression, which was bestowed upon us by our freedom fighters. Various buildings in the state were adorned with bright lights. Many of the government buildings, official residences, and the seat of power in the state capital, were decked up to reflect the mood. Vidhana Soudha glowed, with each of its three floors blending together to emit an illuminated Tricolour. Raj Bhavan was also decorated with lights, apart from a floral message commemorating the 78th Independence Day proudly placed outside. The General Post Office, with its majestic dome, was also decorated for the occasion. Lalbagh Botanical Garden drew massive crowds, who came to behold the annual flower show dedicated to Dr BR Ambedkar. In Hubballi, an illuminated Rani Channamma Circle was a befitting tribute to the warrior queen, while the South Western Railways headquarters also paid its respects to the nation. The DC's office in Mysuru was wrapped in lights beaming the colours of the Tricolour.

After tree fall toll, BBMP intensifies pruning

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the death of an autorickshaw driver after a tree fell on his vehicle on Friday, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has intensified pruning of dangerous trees and branches.

BBMP forest division officials said that between August 1 and August 17, 756 complaints of trees getting uprooted and branches falling were reported and all complaints were addressed.

Deputy Conservator Forest, BBMP, BLG Swamy said the Palike has deployed sufficient staff in each zone, and since August-September is considered peak monsoon season, the staff have intensified the activity to identify dangerous trees and branches, and are removing them. "BBMP is taking action based on the inspection and complaints regarding such vulnerable trees," said Swamy.

"The trees and branches that were cut were loaded and transported by agencies hired by the Palike. Under the supervision of range forest officials and assistant conservator of forest in BBMP, the wood was sent to sheds in respective zones," said an official.

The DCF said the Palike paid an ex-gratia of Rs 5 lakh to the family members of tree fall victim Shivarudraiah. The Palike also cleared hospital bills and cremation charges amounting to Rs 75,000, he added.

The Palike has also paid Rs 5 lakh each to Manikyavel, who suffered a spinal injury, and Vijayalakshmi, who sustained a fracture in her thigh, after a tree fell on them on Monday. Among the four schoolchildren, one child was given Rs 1 lakh as she suffered a fracture in her hand, and three others were given Rs 20,000 each for minor injuries.

Additionally, the factory set a record by dispatching 45,384 wheelsets between March and July 2024. Rajagopal also emphasized RWF's environmental initiatives, including a plan to plant 30,000 saplings over three years, as well as efforts to reduce carbon emissions by upgrading equipment.

Upalokayukta sets 45-day ultimatum to clean up SWM in Banashankari

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

Upalokayukta Justice KN Phaneendra at the BBMP's solid waste management plant in Banashankari on Saturday | EXPRESS

UPALOKAYUKTA Justice KN Phaneendra on Saturday visited BBMP's solid waste management plant in Banashankari 6th Stage and gave a 45-day ultimatum to the BBMP and Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) to act on the violations.

Following the TNIE report dated April 29 — "BBMP's solid waste management plant torments Banashankari residents" — the Upalokayukta had taken a suo motu case.

After inspecting the plant for nearly two hours, Justice Phaneendra identified several violations, including lack of a buffer zone, leachate treatment facility, effective odour-control measures and a functional odometer. He also noted that the BBMP, which is supposed to receive segregated waste, is instead receiving mixed waste.

He instructed BBMP officials to install a board at the entrance of the processing unit. It should display the facility's name and address, the owner's contact details, the authorisation number and its validity, the environmental clearance number and its validity, and the quantity of waste processed at the end of each month.

Residents told TNIE that despite regularly filing complaints, authorities only issue a token number without taking further action. They mentioned that at least two garbage trucks arrive at the unit every 10 minutes, delivering collected waste. However, they hope that the inspection will lead to meaningful action. The BDA layout has numerous houses within a kilometre of the SWM plant established by the BBMP in 2015. The facility, covering 9.5 acres, processes up to 200 tonnes of waste. The foul odour from the plant, which spreads up to 5 km , has impacted five schools, a college, and nearby villages.

Justice Phaneendra said he will revisit the plant on the 46th day to assess the situation.

Based on a tip-off, officials carried out vehicle inspection and found the two tusks hidden in a car.

FINED ₹65K EACH

Spl court sentences 11 accused to 6-yr RI for demonetisation scam

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE special court for CBI and ED cases in the city sentenced 11 accused to six years of rigorous imprisonment and fined them Rs 65,000 each for involving in a dacoity in filmy style to loot lakhs rupees worth new currency notes of Rs 2,000, introduced after demonetisation, from gullible people.

Judge HA Mohan also directed the state government to confiscate Rs 54.11 lakh seized from the accused in the crime registered at the Kirugavalu police station in Malavalli taluk of Mandya district. The sentenced are Dilip, Ananda DB, Rajesh DM, Ananda, Umesh RK, Channakeshava C, Chaluvarajulu CS, Mahadevaswamy DR, Purushothama DR, Ramalinga and Babu DG, all from T Narasipur taluk and Ramanduru village of Kirugavalu Hobli.

"It is a fact that these accused persons are villagers and came from agricultural backgrounds and they were not so economically sound. Therefore, there was no chance for the police to submit a false investigation report against them, that too a case of this nature. It appears that their poverty is the reason for them to hatch out a plan to have wrongful gain by adopting this type of method having regard to the prevailing circumstances. But the act on the part of these accused persons cannot be accepted by the court of law," the court observed, appreciating the efforts of public prosecutor Nirmal Rani TC for a fair trial.

The court noted that the witnesses, money losers, are equally responsible, though the complaint is not lodged against them, as they also tried to wrongfully gain and intended to defeat the decision taken by the Centre. They are not entitled to get back the amount and they also should suffer for their illegality, it said.

After demonetisation, the accused collected demonetised currency notes of Rs 1,000 and prepared wads of Rs 1,000 notes, which were kept in a box as if they were original to make the gullible people believe that they were demonetised currency notes. They promised victims that they would pay 20% extra in demonetised currency if new currency notes were given to them. On December 12, 2016, one of the accused took the witnesses with Rs 67 lakh, containing new currency notes of Rs 2,000, on a motorcycle and dropped them near the car where the other accused was waiting on the pretext of giving old currency. They took away witnesses in the car which reached near Ramanduru in Kirugavalu police station. The other accused persons who were waiting there brought the tractor before the car to slow down the speed and began throwing eggs on the front glass, threw chilly powder at them and snatched away the bag containing new currency.

Schoolkids to tie rakhis to 100 trees

ENS @ Bengaluru

A SCHOOL in Bengaluru will be celebrating the festival of Raksha Bandhan - known for the bond between brothers and sisters - by tying rakhis to 100 trees to reflect the same meaning for the environment that protects us. With the city's tree cover fast depleting in the name of development, school students of The Green School Bangalore (TGSB) located in Muthasandra in Varthur have hand-crafted colourful rakhis made of waste materials.

This is being done as a symbolic gesture and will be undertaken by 350 students from kindergarten to high schools on Monday, and they will also be hugging trees as a part of 'Save trees, Save Bengaluru' Campaign. "Our arts and crafts teacher guided us to create beautiful, big rakhis from recycled paper and waste. We used pistachio shells, pencil shavings, old fabric and corn cobs to create the rakhis," said an excited Aadhya Urs, a Class 5 student.

The students will also visit the Muthasandra Government Hospital and the Panchayat office and tie rakhis to the wardens, as a mark of respect for the selfless service being rendered by them.

"TGSB is a progressive Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) school committed to promoting harmony and environmental awareness. Through this unique Raksha Bandhan, we are creating awareness about protecting the city's tree cover of our city," said Usha Iyer, Founder and Principal, of one of India's first zero carbon schools. She added that this is the first time that students will be making rakhis out of waste materials to send out a message that festivals can be celebrated by recycling and reusing waste.

With 7 confirmed cases of Zika virus infection, and a notable increase in cases of dengue fever in the state, the health department issued an advisory on Saturday and mandated multiple measures including eradication of mosquitoes which transmit Zika virus, monitoring and testing symptoms like fever, red eyes, headache, and joint pain lasting anywhere between 2-7 days

Husband kills wife over illicit relationship, hangs himself

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A dejected husband, who had often warned his wife about her illicit relationship, killed her and then hanged himself on Friday night. The incident occurred in the Hulimavu police station limits on August 16.

The deceased have been identified as Meena (36), a domestic help hailing from Kolar, and her husband Mahesh Kumar (46), a crane operator hailing from Mumbai. The couple were staying in Doddakammanahalli in Hulimavu and had been married for 15 years with two daughters and a son.

The police said that Kumar was Meena's second husband. He got to know her illicit relationship and had repeatedly warned her about it, even informing her family. Despite his warnings, Meena continued the relationship. It is suspected that after multiple unanswered calls from Meena, Kumar got frustrated by her behaviour on Friday and attacked her with an iron rod around 7.30 pm. She succumbed to her head injuries on the spot.

Meena's son found her body and alerted the police. The police rushed to the scene, inspected the house, and suspected Kumar of killing her. A search operation was launched to find him. On Saturday, around 3.30 pm, Kumar was found hanging in a deserted area near Doddakammanahalli, and his body was sent for post-mortem.

HOSPITALS ACROSS STATE JOIN IMA'S CALL TO SHUT OPD SERVICES

Doctors instructed to work on roster to ensure emergency services remain unaffected

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Medical professionals from across the state join the nationwide protest called by IMA in Bengaluru | ALLEN EGENUS E J

MEDICAL professionals across the state joined the Indian Medical Association's (IMA) call for nationwide protest to shut down all non-emergency services, with the doctors statewide staging a mega protest and conducting a march within the healthcare facilities and Freedom Park on Saturday.

The nationwide uproar followed after a doctor's rape and murder case in RG Kar Medical College and Hospital in Kolkata, and the hooliganism vented on the protesting members on the Independence Day.

The doctors from government hospitals and medical teaching colleges had been protesting from August 12 across the state, however, private doctors, members of Bangalore Ophthalmic Society (BOS), private hospitals, Nursing Homes Association (PHANA) and medical college students, also joined the 24-hour strike which started on Saturday 6 am, with the doctors keeping their duties aside to demand safe work environment and strict law implementation.

As the Outpatient Department (OPD) services were shut down, the doctors were instructed to work on a roster to ensure that the casualty ward, emergency and essential services, were not affected. Patients seeking non-emergency services, however, faced disruptions.

Speaking with TNIE, officials from Victoria Hospital said that many patients, unaware of the protest, had lined up for OPD consultations and follow-up check ups. However, they were sent back. Officials from KC General Hospital also mentioned that the situation was the same but the patient count was less. "The volunteers explained the situation to those who had visited the hospital for routine check ups and OPD services, and we have requested them to visit again," the official mentioned.

In Bengaluru alone, more than 4,000 Karnataka Association Of Resident Doctors (KARD), 1,500 members from St John's Hospital, over 300 members of Resident Doctors Association (RDA) NIMHANS, 400 members from PHANA, joined the strike alongside many medical private doctors, postgraduates and interns.

Dr Govindaiah Yatheesh, President of PHANA, said that the heinous crime against the doctors should serve as a lesson and another chance to implement corrective measures.

He highlighted that the protest is a symbolic stand against hooliganism. "We, as doctors, have taken an oath to save lives, but who is there to protect us? he questioned, further asking why the Central Healthcare Protection Act, proposed in 2018, has yet to be implemented.

An IMA member said that during the pandemic, doctors sacrificed everything to serve their patients. However, when they now ask for basic rights, it seems that only doctors are speaking out against the injustice.

KARD members also highlighted multiple challenges that the doctors face daily. They argued over the state government's inaction and lack of response to their needs, whether it's fair stipend, affordable course fees, or protecting their rights.

The protesting doctors warned that if the authorities continue to ignore their needs, they may be forced to escalate their protest, which could involve suspending emergency services or duties by the resident doctors, interns, and postgraduates.

Participants rode through the city's major routes, holding placards and banners demanding justice for the victim, and stricter enforcement of workplace safety protocols.

Students protest

Students at ESIC Medical College in Rajajinagar staged a protest on campus, demanding justice for a victim. Doctors at the college joined the protest, abandoning their duties to express their support. They chanted slogans such as "No Safety, No Duty," "Justice Delayed, Justice Denied," and "Save the Saviors." The protest also received backing from the AIDSO Students' Organisation Bangalore District Committee.

Science society expresses solidarity

The Breakthrough Science Society also expressed solidarity with the medical community and institutions nationwide, calling for justice and improved social safety. They emphasized the need for an accountable administration, a swift and impartial investigation, and exemplary punishment for the perpetrators. The Society urged its members, supporters, and the public to actively participate in the ongoing movement against rape, murder, and violence against women.

BJP DEFENDS GUV'S MOVE, DEMANDS CM'S RESIGNATION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP and JDS leaders on Saturday demanded Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's resignation after Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot gave permission to prosecute him in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) sites allotment case.

"Given the substantial evidence and serious allegations of corruption and favouritism within the Congress government, it is crucial that the chief minister steps down. Resigning would allow for a transparent and unbiased investigation, ensuring that the dignity of the Chief Minister's office is maintained and that justice is served," BJP state president BY Vijayendra stated.

Defending the governor's decision, the BJP state president said the former has exercised his constitutional powers to authorise legal action on the MUDA scam complaint against the chief minister.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka termed it as a victory for the BJP-JDS Bengaluru-Mysuru Padayatra. The CM must resign and return the MUDA sites, while the CBI probe should be ordered into the case, he said. The BJP leader said they are not fighting against any individual, but to get justice for the people waiting for MUDA sites. Ashoka said the BJP is not trying to destabilise the Congress government, but Congress MLAs are unhappy with their party and government and are revolting against them. Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Council Chaluvadi Narayanswamy and senior BJP leader and MLC N Ravi Kumar said Siddaramaiah must immediately resign. Narayanswamy said legal action should be taken against the CM by registering an FIR. The BJP leaders defended the governor's action.

While former minister Gali Janardhan Reddy said if Siddaramaiah is really honest, he should resign and face the probe, JDS leader Nikhil Kumaraswamy said the CM has no option but to accept the truth and resign.

"The MUDA scam is a purely personal allegation against Siddaramaiah, his wife, and his family. It is about private land they own. He should fight it as an individual, not as the CM by involving the state government machinery. I am sure the CM knows the difference," BJP MP Lahar Singh Siroya said.

Siddu should have surrendered sites to avoid trouble, says whistle-blower MLA Srivatsa

MYSURU: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah would not have been in trouble if he had returned the 14 sites allotted to his wife Parvati, said BJP MLA Srivatsa, a whistleblower in the MUDA scam, here on Saturday. Siddaramaiah should resign on moral grounds, and truth has prevailed in the MUDA case, he said. Congress knew about the governor granting permission for prosecution, he alleged. BJP spokesperson Mohan said Srivatsa had written to the Chief Secretary and the government, alleging violations by MUDA commissioners Natesh and Dinesh in allocating sites without bringing it to the notice of MUDA members. But the government did not take the letter seriously and later, constituted a two-member commission of IAS officers to look into the allegations, he added. Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh visited the MUDA office and took away important files related to the 50:50 site allotment scam, in which Siddaramaiah's wife has been blamed. The minister did not even invite Srivatsa for a meeting, he alleged. Welcoming the governor's decision, former MP Pratap Simha said Siddaramaiah did not consider his suggestion to return the sites and get the inquiry done from a sitting judge. ENS

Will fight till Siddu is punished, says petitioner

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

ACTIVIST Snehamayi Krishna said he will fight till Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is punished for allegedly misusing his power and violating the law in a bid to acquire MUDA sites.

Speaking to TNIE on Saturday, Krishna alleged that the CM had misused his power and violated rules to acquire sites from MUDA. "I will not rest till Siddaramaiah is punished for his crime, and the 14 sites he has acquired illegally are returned to MUDA," he said.

Krishna said he had submitted all the documents regarding the MUDA site allotment scam to the special court, which will be hearing the case on August 20.

"As the governor has given his consent for prosecution, the special court will hear the case on Tuesday and hope to give its consent for the investigation. I have submitted more than 300 pages of documents and have appealed for investigation on the irregularities of site allotments in MUDA from 1990 till date. Siddaramaiah's case is just the tip of the iceberg and I want the investigating agencies to catch and punish all the officials and powerful persons involved in the irregularities," he said.

CONG GOVT FACES ITS WORST CRISIS

THE campaign against Chief Minister Siddaramaiah over the allotment of 14 sites by the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) to his wife has now reached a decisive stage.

With Karnataka Governor Thawar Chand Gehlot permitting the prosecution of Siddaramaiah under the Prevention of Corruption Act and Bharatiya Nagarika Suraksha Samhitha, the Congress government in Karnataka is facing one of its biggest crises since it stormed back to power in 2023 with an absolute majority of 136 seats in the 220-member assembly.

Although the BJP-JDS launched a massive campaign, including Bengaluru-Mysuru Padayatra over the issue, the trouble for the CM and Congress government came from petitions filed by TJ Abraham, Snehamayi Krishna, and Pradeep Kumar SP, who knocked on the doors of Raj Bhavan seeking permission to prosecute the CM.

As expected, the Governor's action came under fire from Congress which is accusing BJP of using the Raj Bhavan to undermine the democratically elected government. All the ministers slammed the Governor, while some even demanded the Centre to recall him. Indicating the line Congress is taking, Minister Priyank Kharge stated: "The Constitutional head of the state is sparking a constitutional crisis to appease his political masters."

The Congress government would certainly explore all options available to defend the CM, but the BJP has upped the ante by demanding that the CM resign immediately to facilitate a fair probe into the case. The state government had an inkling of the things to come as the Governor had issued a strongly worded notice to the CM on the day he had received a petition from Abraham. "On perusal of the request, it is seen that the allegations against you are of serious nature and prima facie seems plausible...," the notice issued on July 26 read.

The government had questioned the legality of the notice and the Council of Ministers (CoM) had advised the Governor to withdraw it and reject the petition. The CM had recused himself from attending the meeting of the CoM as the issue involved him and his family. The meeting was chaired by Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar.

The Governor seemed to have been convinced about the facts in the petitions, rather than the advice of the council of ministers.

On August 17, while permitting the prosecution, the Governor stated, "Upon perusal of the petition along with the materials in support of the allegations in the petitions and subsequent reply of Sri Siddaramaiah and the advice of the state cabinet along with legal opinion, it seems to me that there are two versions in relation to the same set of facts. It is very necessary that a neutral, objective and non-partisan investigation should be conducted. I am prima facie satisfied that the allegations and the supporting materials disclose the commission of offences."

While the government will explore the legal options and take the issue to the people by launching a blitzkrieg against the BJP central leadership, a lot would depend on the immediate outcome on the measures to be taken by the petitioners. If they manage to convince the courts of the need for a probe, it would become difficult for Siddaramaiah to continue in the top post. Unlike the regional parties that can defend the CMs facing serious charges, even being in jail and governing the state, Congress may be compelled to explore other options. Beyond a point, it may become untenable for the party to defend the CM. That situation may not arise if Congress manages to win a legal battle in the initial stages before the probe is ordered by the court based on the petitions.

On his part, the CM defended his action in the MUDA issue and termed the allegations against him as an attempt to tarnish his unblemished political career spanning over four decades. All along, he has maintained it to be a simple case of compensation being given in the form of sites to his wife, whose lands were acquired by the MUDA for developing a layout. Once the pressure started mounting, the government constituted a judicial commission headed by a retired judge to look into it. The move was questioned by the opposition, which demanded a CBI probe and the CM's resignation. In the meanwhile, activists approached Raj Bhavan making matters worse for the CM.

While Congress would anticipate all possible scenarios to defend the CM and take appropriate measures, the issue will now immediately spark the conflict between the government and the Raj Bhavan, which is seen in many states governed by non-NDA parties.

Guv must be removed: Congressmen

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AFTER Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot gave permission to prosecute Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) case, Congress leaders slammed the governor, with some leaders even demanding his removal.

Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre said the governor is acting like a political agent of the BJP and the President must remove him from his post immediately. Terming it a political conspiracy, Khandre said the BJP does not believe in the democratic system and is attempting to destabilise the elected government in the state. "The governor must resign, taking moral responsibility for his partisan act or the President must remove him immediately," he said.

Industries Minister MB Patil said the BJP will have to repent for this move. He slammed the governor as being "nothing more than a puppet of the Centre", alleging that the Raj Bhavan has turned into an office for the BJP. "When activist TJ Abraham filed a complaint against the CM, the Chief Secretary provided all necessary information to the Raj Bhavan. However, the governor hastily issued a notice to Siddaramaiah. There were already suspicions about his conduct. This current move is undesirable, and the people of the state will not tolerate it," Patil said.

Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said the governor's office has not followed the due procedure. Congress leaders said there must be a preliminary investigation by a competent government agency before giving permission to prosecute, but that procedure was not followed in this case.

AICC general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala termed it a political conspiracy hatched in the corridors of PMO and the Ministry of Home Affairs in New Delhi against the elected government.

No valid case against me: Siddu

SIDDARAMAIAH said, "There is no valid case against me, and this decision by the governor is politically motivated." He said party leaders, legislators and cabinet ministers are standing by him. BJP has no moral right to demand his resignation, he said. The Centre is against social justice and welfare schemes introduced by the Congress government, he added. Siddaramaiah said the governor has not taken any action on complaints against leaders, including Union minister HD Kumaraswamy, former ministers Murugesh Nirani, Shashikala Jolle and Janardhan Reddy. Though permission was sought in November to investigate Kumaraswamy for issuing unauthorised mining licenses, no action has been taken, he said.

No intention by BJP to topple govt, says Joshi

HUBBALLI: Union Minister for Food, Public Distribution and Consumer Affairs Pralhad Joshi said here on Saturday that BJP has no intention to topple or destabilise the Congress government in the state. But he added that if Chief Minister Siddarmaiah considers himself clean and honest, "let him continue in the chair". Joshi said the people in the state have given Congress a five-year mandate and let the government complete its term, which is BJP's stated stand and desire. There is no question of pulling down the government, he added. Defending the toppling of the Congress-JDS coalition in the previous government, he said the last time, BJP had won 104 seats, while Congress had 68 seats. "People had rejected them. But Congress and JDS teamed up and tried to keep BJP out of power. Later, some of their MLAs supported BJP to form the government. But this time, BJP will not make any such attempt," he clarified. Just hours after sanction, petitioner files caveat in HC

@ Bengaluru

ANTICIPATING that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will approach the Karnataka High Court against the sanction granted by Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to prosecute him in the MUDA scam, one of the applicants before the governor filed a caveat in the high court on Saturday.

A few hours after the sanction was granted, the applicant, Pradeep Kumar SP, who is one of three persons who approached the governor seeking sanction to prosecute Siddaramaiah under Section 17 of the Prevention of Corruption Act and Section 218 of the Bharatiya Nagarika Suraksha Samhita, filed the caveat.

Siddaramaiah is likely to approach the high court on Monday to question the legality of the sanction. Now, with the caveat, the high court has to hear the caveator also before passing any orders on the petition likely to be filed by Siddaramaiah.

Apart from Pradeep Kumar, social activists Snehamayi Krishna from Mysuru and TJ Abraham from Bengaluru had also sought sanction from the governor, who on Saturday gave sanction accepting their request. Kumar had approached the governor even before filing the complaint.

The special court to try cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs was hearing a private complaint filed by Krishna and Abraham to know whether they had made a prima facie case to accept the complaints for hearing. Is prior sanction necessary to entertain the complaints is one of the major contentions being argued before the special court.

The further hearing on the complaints filed by Krishna and Abraham is to be continued on August 20 and 21, respectively.

Person charged mustn't decide course of probe, says governor

"It is a well-settled legal principle that the person against whom allegations are made should not be empowered to decide the course of action. Even after such grave allegations being involved in the present matter and the fact that the material prima facie supports the allegations, the decision taken by the Council of Ministers is irrational."

The "irrational decision" pertains to the CoM's earlier 'advice' to the governor to withdraw a notice issued to CM Siddaramaiah on July 26, and to reject the petition filed by activist TJ Abraham, seeking to prosecute the CM under Section 17 of the Prevention of Corruption Act and Section 218 of the Bharatiya Nagarika Suraksha Samhita.

The governor claimed to have studied the petitions and the resolution passed by the cabinet meeting, which was held in CM's absence but appointed on his advice, on August 1, 2024, against issuing the notice to Siddaramaiah.

CM's legal advisor AS Ponnanna said, "We will consult senior lawyers and decide on either moving the High Court or the Supreme Court."

While petitioner Abraham said he will move the court with the governor's sanction and file a caveat on Monday to stop the government from getting an injunction against the governor's sanction, another petitioner Pradeep Kumar SP filed a caveat before the High Court on Saturday itself.

Kumar and another petitioner Snehamayi Krishna have also said they will take forward the case. After the cabinet meeting, Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar along with their colleagues, including Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil, addressed a joint press conference and termed the governor's decision "illegal", while asserting that Siddaramaiah will not step down from the CM's post.

Siddaramaiah said, "The governor should work as a representative of the President and Constitution, not as a representative of the Central Government. The Cabinet strongly condemns this attitude of the Governor."

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and other ministers address a press conference in Vidhana Soudha on Saturday | EXPRESS

He alleged that the Central government is trying to destabilise the elected government through the governor. "The Cabinet has decided that this is a threat to the basic principles of democracy, a threat to the federal system and a threat to democracy," he stated.

He alleged that the governor has not followed the Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) as per the circular of the Central government issued on September 3, 2021.

"We have decided that we must stop the malicious attempt of the Central government to undermine an elected government," he said, maintaining that he had no role in the allotment of the 14 sites to his wife by MUDA as he had not signed any papers favouring the latter. He questioned why the governor did not give sanction to prosecute Union minister H D Kumaraswamy, BJP former ministers Gali Janardhana Reddy, Shashikala Jolle and Murugesh Nirani, despite the Lokayukta establishing their role in the illegalities.

"Why should I resign as I have not committed any mistake? Although there is no document, evidence or investigation, the governor has given permission (for prosecution) after coming under pressure from the Centre", he alleged. "The governor should resign. We knew there was a big conspiracy going on and we are also prepared to fight it out. BJP and JDS are getting themselves exposed," he added.

He said, "Congress high Command leaders, all cabinet colleagues, legislators and party workers are with me. The high command spoke to me over the phone and expressed their solidarity."

DK Shivakumar said that Congress and government is solidly behind the CM. "There is a conspiracy to misuse the governor's office to destabilise the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government in Karnataka. There is no question of the CM resigning," he said.

ALL FIVE STOPLOGS INSTALLED AT BROKEN CREST GATE

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Hosapete

The damaged crest gate of the Pampa Sagar dam on the Tungabhadra river in Koppal district, was finally fixed, one week after its chain snapped. The team of experts successfully installed all five stoplogs at the broken crest gate no 19 of the Tungabhadra Dam after two days of continuous efforts. The outflow of water from the broken crest gate of the reservoir has reduced from 65,000 cusecs to 500 cusecs after the installation of all the temporary stoplogs on Saturday. The team led by expert Hydro Mechanical Engineers were successful in stopping the water outflow as promised. Farmers and government officials of Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana expressed their gratitude and appreciated the team. After completing the installation work, water flow from all crest gates has been stopped. Hydro Mechanical Engineer and team lead N Kannaiah Naidu said that the installation of the first temporary stoplog was challenging. "On Friday, we successfully installed the first temporary gate, and then we worked all Saturday to install all five stoplogs. I thank all the three state governments and my workers for working 24x7 to finish the work. The current water inflow is over 85,000 cusecs, and within three days the dam storage will again increase to over 20 TMC. The crest gate gave way because the chain link was more than 50 years old. Installation of the new crest gate no 19 will be done next year during the summer season," he added. The broken crest gate was found near the dam's downstream area after a week of the incident. Officials tried to lift it from the river on Saturday.

Muslims criticise 'Pork Challenge' event by DYFI

ENS @ Kozhikode

A section of Muslim scholars criticised the 'Pork Challenge' launched by the Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI) as part of a fundraising campaign for the survivors of the Wayanad landslides, saying it amounts to insulting Muslims.

The Pork Challenge at Rajapuram in Kasaragod on August 10, saw around 350 kg of meat being sold. A similar challenge is slated to be held in Kothamangalam on August 18.

State secretary of the Sunni Yuvajana Sangam (SYS) Nazar Faizi Koodathayi, in a Facebook post, claimed that the challenge is an attempt to introduce blasphemy. "DYFI is aware that consuming pork is a taboo for many survivors of the tragedy. Despite this, the Kothamangalam committee included it in the challenge," Faizi said. He said using a product that is taboo for many survivors, to collect funds, is an insult. However, the DYFI said, "Pork Challenge was chosen based on its popularity and demand."

Margadarsi liable for prosecution: RBI to HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

IN a significant development, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has informed the Telangana High Court that Margadarsi Financiers, owned by the late media mogul Ch Ramoji Rao, is liable for prosecution. The RBI said that the company violated the RBI Act by collecting funds from the public, an activity prohibited for a Hindu Undivided Family under the current regulations.

RBI also opposed the quash petitions filed by Margadarsi and Ramoji Rao, challenging the cases initiated in 2008 by the then Andhra Pradesh government, led by Y S Rajasekhara Reddy. In a recent counter affidavit, the RBI referenced multiple judgments from the Telangana HC and the Apex Court, arguing that the petitions should be dismissed because the alleged actions of the petitioners prima facie meet the criteria for the offences in question.

This case traces its origin to a complaint lodged by former Congress MP Vundavalli Arun Kumar, who accused Margadarsi Financiers of violating the RBI Act by collecting deposits from public. In response, the state government filed a case against Margadarsi and Ramoji Rao, which has been under trial in the First Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court, Hyderabad, since 2008.

Although the Andhra Pradesh High Court quashed all proceedings against Ramoji Rao and Margadarsi in 2018, citing the absence of complaints from depositors and acknowledging the company's efforts to repay the deposits, the Supreme Court later intervened. Following a special leave petition by Arun Kumar, the apex court reverted the case back to the Telangana High Court for a fresh hearing and ordered the inclusion of the RBI and the state governments of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana as respondents.

Min: Meet to discuss safety of medicos

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

HEALTH and Family Welfare Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said here on Saturday that he has convened a meeting in Bengaluru on August 20 to discuss measures to ensure the safety and security of doctors, nurses and other medical professionals. This is in view of the rape and murder of a doctor and a nurse in Kolkata and Uttarakand, respectively.

He said the Kolkata and Uttarakhand incidents have scared medical professionals. For the meeting on Tuesday, medical professionals from private and public sectors have been invited and their opinions will be sought on how to upgrade their safety and security, he added.

Recently, the government tried to address issues related to violence against medical professionals in the amendments brought to a Bill which is waiting for Governor's consent. The bill addresses issues like assault, offences and even insulting medical professionals by videographing and sharing them on social media, the minister said.

"In Tuesday's meeting, we will discuss if any other measures need to be taken, and bring necessary amendments to the law," he added.

THE MISSING PROPS OF DEMOCRACY IN FILMS, CRICKET AND SCIENCE

OPINION

SHIV VISVANATHAN
Social scientist associated with the Compost Heap, a group researching alternative imaginations

INDEPENDENCE day is a time for reflection. The discussion has to go beyond the gossip of personalities and the pull of charisma. It has to focus on institutions and the value systems they maintain. It has to identify us a society that has become a hybrid social construct between democracy and the nation state. How have these institutions fared? Such questions should immediately summon the storyteller. Tragically, the storyteller is missing—another creature rendered obsolescent by so-called modernity.

The storyteller provides the poetry, the meaning, the creation myths of democracy. He creates the weave of memory that makes democracy possible. Democracy is not the litany of one man, one vote, but also a litany of stories, fables and anecdotes that make it meaningful. Every parent, every senior member of the house has a story of partition, about Gandhi, or a song—none of which gets told today as television eats up these pieces of narratives. With the storyteller missing, independence day—with its official, civil-service-like textbook speeches—is arid and empty. Each person is a labyrinth of memories, but this pilgrimage of memories through the memory lane is precisely what is lost. The silence is all-consuming.

What consolidates the aridity of speech is the emptiness of numbers. Democracy, rather than being a normative system, has become a numbers game. Majoritarianism stands for electoralism and even democracy has become a zero-sum game. Numbers help only to mechanically create a social contract, showing little consideration for meaning, nuance, pluralism or dialogue. The valences of dialogue elude the logic of numbers.

There is another property that is missing—the poetics of memory. One of the fascinating characteristics of Indian democracy was the logic of collective memory. The myth of three other institutions sustained democracy. Three institutions created a surrogate theory of democracy—films, cricket and science, as each became part of the folklore of democracy.

In a land replete with myths, films have been a companion anchor to democracy, digesting its contradictions, yet providing for the heroism of the aspiring individual. Films can integrate family life with the contending ways of law and order, urban life and ritual logic. Films create the myths of compatibility that make modern democracy possible.

Sadaat Hasan Manto argued that Bombay Talkies, as a way of a craft's life, was an embodiment of our pluralism. The songs of Bollywood were the anthem of democracy. Yet, in the last decade, Bollywood has stopped being a myth factory for democracy. It is silently arguing that centres that cannot hold Bollywood's myths are incompatible with it.

Accompanying films as addendums to democracy are science and cricket. Cricket is a moral fable, not just a genre that captures the play of Indian democracy. Cricketing fables about legends like Lala Amarnath and Eknath Solkar are anecdotes about democracy, arguing as if cricket is a superior version of electoralism. Yet of late, cricket appears loaded with corporate logic rather than upward morality stories.

Science in India was heralded as an annex to the Constitution. The scientific temper was part of the democratic temper, a tacit version of constitutionalism. Yet today, Big Science has destroyed the logic of play. The elementary simplicity of science as a rule game anyone can access is no longer visible. One can no longer claim, as one did in the 1970s, that every man is a scientist, every village a science academy. Information technology, too, appears more technocratic than accessible.

Finally, democracy is caught in its own contradictions. The logic of majoritarianism has cued in the beginning of a genocide. The 1984 and 2002 riots made democracy in its electoral form look genocidal. Violence as a spectacle became an act of consumption to be savoured again. The video replay became a genocidal spectacle.

Movements across the world show democracy has to be rethought and revived. The direct-action movement has shown that a new semiotics of the body—the everyday body, the dialogue body—has to be revived. One needs the equivalent of the satyagrahi explained to revitalise the language and rituals of democracy. This independence day is the right time for it.

One has to realise that democracy today is a variegated spectacle. It is no longer only a textual fact. The printed word as a medium no longer explains the text of democracy. One needs the oral, textual and digital bodies to recreate democracy, to create a face-to-face society, to create an immediacy of conversation. Democracy becomes a richer sensorium with orality in play. Orality, the practice of speaking face-to-face and recollecting without a text, is a crucial part of it. Democracy needs a revitalised sense of memory, a revitalised body, a new sense of numeracy to relaunch it. The pedagogy and the drama implicit in it are obvious.

Democracy today traverses different kinds of time—the new modes of communication are one aspect of it. Only a linear model of development straightjackets time. The time of alternatives, the time of the future is pluralistic and cannot be regimented within a textbook. History has to always allow for variety of interpretations. Pluralism is therefore inherent in democracy. Democracy is thus an adjudication of differences, rather than numbers alone. Its theories of representation are richer, emphasising difference and inclusiveness. They are yet to be built into the current frame; the allocation of quota alone won't do. One has to explore the epistemic and cosmic roots of democracy.

A GLASS HALF FULL OR HALF EMPTY?

OPINION

BIBEK DEBROY
Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister

AUGUST 15, 1947 was a long time ago. The Bible says, "Your old men shall dream dreams, and your young men shall see visions." India is not as young as is commonly made out to be. In the absence of Census 2021, anything said about population trends is largely an estimate. Subject to that, the median age is around 29 years. Young, but not that young.

India will also start to age fairly soon. It already has in some states. Someone who is 29 years old now was born in 1995. This is a post-reform generation. This is a generation used to liberalisation and unused to shortages. This is a generation that has visions of Viksit Bharat in 2047.

Someone born in 1947 is 77 or 78 today. Such a midnight's child should be called old. Growing up in the decades of shortage in the 1950s, '60s, '70s and even '80s, these individuals had dreams for India. If they look at India in 2024, the clichéd metaphor will be that of the half-empty and half-full glass. A lot has been accomplished since 1947, but a lot remains to be accomplished.

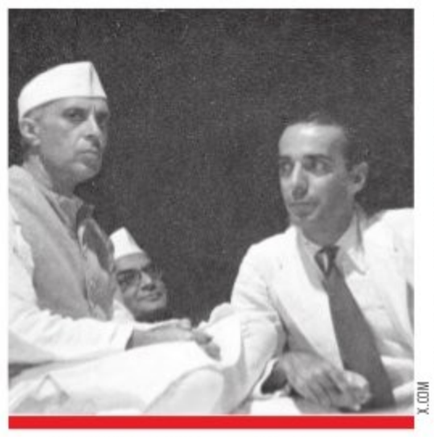
But have you ever looked at a half-empty and half-full glass? The perspective depends a lot on where the glass is compared to your line of vision. If you hold the glass up, above your line of vision, it will seem to be more full than empty. But if you hold the glass below your line of vision, it will seem to be more empty than full. Since they remember what India used to be like, the older generation will probably regard the glass as more full than empty. But since they don't know what India was like in 1947, the younger generation will probably regard the glass as more empty than full.

August 15, 1947 seems like a long time ago. The world was different and India was different. Let's focus on economy-related aspects, ignoring the immediate trauma of partition. Few people remember Minoo Masani (1905-98) now. He was an influential politician, though his ideology changed over time. Incidentally, in the Constituent Assembly, he argued for a uniform civil code. Data didn't exist in 1947. Not for what we understand as India today. Such data that existed were for parts of India that were directly under British rule, not the princely states.

Today, if we want government data, we will probably look towards the Economic Survey. There was no Economic Survey then. Publishing the Economic Survey is not a constitutional requirement. It started as an executive decision and a 'white paper' started to be included in the budget papers from 1950-51. That white paper eventually became an independent Economic Survey.

Of course, the Survey isn't a primary source of data; it is a secondary source. It collates and reports data collected elsewhere within government. But in 1947, 'elsewhere within government' didn't exist. Statistical systems evolved only in the 1950s. In April 1951, the first report of the National Income Committee highlighted problems with the statistical system. The Central Statistical Office or CSO and the National Sample Survey Office or NSSO were in their formative years. The Collection of Statistics Act would be passed in 1953. For 1947 we had little information.

But in 1947, Minoo Masani published a slim book directed at children. It was called Our India and was deeply socialist in tone, which was the default template



X.COM

It's difficult to precisely chart India's growth since independence because of the paucity of data from 1947. Constituent Assembly member Minoo Masani wrote a children's book that gave us some idea of the reality at the time then. I read it when I was still very young and it left a deep impression on me. Whatever be the content, I think the style is a model for all those who write for the young. In the preface to this book, he said, "Statistics of Indian life are so scanty and scrappy that reliance on them is bound to endanger one's conclusions."

With that caveat, what did Minoo Masani tell us? "Learned professors in our universities have estimated that the ordinary peasant in our country with a wife and three children has to live along with his family on much less than ₹27 a month, which is the average income for all kinds of Indians rolled into one... If, for instance, a baby brother or sister were to be born in your home—don't mention this to your mother or father, it'll only hurt their feelings, because grown-ups are like that!—the little baby, sad to say, is due to die at the age of 27." A per capita income of Rs 27 per month and a life expectancy of 27 years.

In the absence of Census 2021, we don't exactly know what the life expectancy is today. Extrapolations are based on Census 2011. But life expectancy should be something like 71 years, compared to 27 years at the time of independence. Because of inflation issues, I will not give per capita income figures. We know there has been a vast improvement.

That life expectancy of 27 years was for 1947. In 1951, the life expectancy increased to 32 years. There are also literacy numbers from the Census of 1941, though the geographical definition of India in 1941 was different from that of India today. (The 1941 data included Pakistan.) The literacy rate was 16.1 percent.

By 1951, we had a slightly better idea of what it was like to be an average Indian. In the Census of 1951, with India geographically defined as it is now, the literacy rate was 16.7 percent. Methodologically, these literacy rates are not comparable with literacy rates in the censuses after 1991. Definitions have changed. Before 1991, in computing literacy rates, the denominator was the total population. The figures were crude literacy rates.

Post-1991, the ratio is worked out for the population that is 7 years or more in age. That is, post-1991, the figures are net literacy rates. If the net literacy rate is computed for 1951, with the population that is 5 years or more in age used in the denominator, the figure becomes 18.3 percent. What that qualification, and remembering that we don't have Census 2021, India's literacy rate is around 78 percent now and the infant mortality rate or IMR is 26 deaths for every 1,000 live births. In 1951, the IMR was 146.

What kind of glass are you looking at around the time of independence day? Depends on your perspective. We need to look forward. No one drives with an eye on the rear-view mirror, but an occasional glance is needed.

REDEFINING THE NATURE-HUMAN CONTRACT

OPINION

GEETHA RAVICHANDRAN
Former bureaucrat and author, most recently of The Spell of the Rain Tree

AT a recent event, I heard an entrepreneur explain that his company, whose business is water-intensive, has undertaken restoration of age-old lakes near his factory. These Chola era lakes were interconnected and designed to facilitate the flow of water down the gradient. However, over time, discharge of industrial effluents, household waste and encroachments degraded the lakes, reducing them to sewers or garbage dumps. Therefore this laudable, voluntary initiative in line with the 'polluter pays' principle seeks to restore the once-vibrant ecosystem. Vegetation, aquatic and avian species will thrive, improving the microclimate. On completion, water for irrigation and drinking would also be made available to the surrounding areas.

The recent past has jolted us to realise that the climate crisis is a real danger. The issue poses existential challenges and cannot be left to experts and authorities alone. So it is heartening to see initiatives by individuals and organisations that can collectively make a difference.

Several NGOs in Bengaluru are working to clean up and restore lakes. Similarly, due to ongoing efforts of ordinary citizens supplementing government efforts, the tree and forest cover in India has consistently increased. There is also greater awareness of the damage human interventions are inflicting on the planet. The question that arises is whether these efforts are sufficient. A multi-pronged approach—limiting emission of greenhouse gases and pollutants, controlling damage to the environment and creating the bulwark of a wider green cover—is essential.

The devastating landslides in Wayanad have brought into focus the damage attributable to human activities compounded by climate change. The sudden flooding of urban areas due to a lack of adequate storm-water drainage and unplanned construction have also raised questions on our preparedness to handle climate disasters. What is required is long-term strategic planning.

Trees play a vital role in carbon sequestration. This balance is distorted due to deforestation, degradation and accelerated greenhouse gas emissions. The present increase in average global temperatures by 1.1-1.3°C from the pre-industrial era has come with high concentrations of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. This tends to have a domino effect with greater emissions.

Efforts are being made to implement compensatory afforestation when trees are cut down for development projects like construction or broadening of roads. However, sometimes the saplings are neglected and left uncared for. The suitability of the plant species to the soil conditions and the need to maintain biodiversity are also required to be factored in. Large amounts of money have been spent on tree-planting efforts, but the commensurate results are visible only when the local population is involved in maintenance.

What is required is a paradigm shift in attitudes of engaging with the environment. Environmental education should sensitise people to the centrality of ecosystems in our lives. The problem arises due to the anthropocentric approach of treating the environment as a mere commodity or resource, meant to subserve human needs and even human whims. A public interest litigation before the Bombay High Court highlighted the damage caused by the phenomenon of bright lights wrapped around tree trunks, ostensibly in the name of beautification. This disoriented birds and disrupted the cycle of the trees' photosynthesis while adding to light pollution. The authorities subsequently issued orders to dismantle the decorative lights, which was a monumental example of human folly in the first place.

Our anthropocentric approach treats environment as a mere commodity or resource, meant to serve human needs and whims. We need a paradigm shift in attitudes of engaging with nature. Environmental education should sensitise people to the centrality of ecosystems in our lives

There is growing advocacy for granting legal rights to nature—to ecosystems and to species of flora and fauna. Some nations like Ecuador have already recognised legal rights for nature in their constitutions. Environment personhood would mean that it is not treated as a mere commodity. The Ganga and Yamuna rivers now enjoy the status of legal entities, thanks to the decision of the Uttarakhand High Court.

When the intrinsic value of the ecosystem is given due importance, exploitation in the name of economic development will be minimised. This will promote sustainable practices, as nature's rights would be considered in decision-making processes. The consequential impact on climate change and environmental protection will be significant.

The Indian tradition emphasises an attitude of reverence to trees, rivers, mountains and even deifies various manifestations of nature. The deeper significance of these practices is lost to most of us. The construction and maintenance of lakes and planting of trees have been extolled in scriptures like the Mahabharata; a person doing so is said to be blessed for seven generations. Abundance in nature and availability of natural resources are boons to future generations. The vision of Chola era rulers in creating valuable infrastructure is testimony to this fact.

Modern culture that promotes instant gratification has brought us to the brink where resources are consumed without any thought of consequences. We are on the verge of killing the golden goose. To quote the botanist and writer Robin Wall Kimmerer, "The moral covenant of reciprocity calls us to honour our responsibilities for all that we have been given, for all that we have taken. It's our turn now, long overdue." Redefining our relationship with our environment is an urgent need of the hour.

The Israeli public long ago became inured to the brutal occupation that has characterised the country for 57 out of the 76 years of its existence. But the scale of what is being perpetrated in Gaza right now by the IDF is as unprecedented as the complete indifference of most Israelis to what is being done in their name.

Doctors' safety

Ref: Need fair probe on Kolkata rape and murder, law to protect doctors (Aug 17). The editorial has correctly urged the government to revive its legislation ensuring protection of healthcare professionals. The nationwide strike by the Indian Medical Association and affiliated organisations requires such a response. Though some states have their own laws for it, they are not properly implemented because of political influence. There have been many brutal attacks on and murders of doctors and nurses, but the government just expresses regret.

Jayaprakash Reddy, Nalgonda

No politics

Why politicise the Kolkata doctor's murder case? The basic issue of security to all and compensation to the victim's family and others affected is getting diverted by the politics. The need of the hour is for the medical fraternity, security agencies and the ministry of health to coordinate and frame a system of adequate security to all hospitals at all times. Another point is to limit the work hours of medical employees. Then more people will be attracted towards hospital jobs.

P V Madhu Nivriti, Secunderabad

State failure

The Calcutta High Court has rightly described the vandalism at R G Kar Medical College as a total failure of the state machinery. But, as in the past, Mamata Banerjee has enacted a natak by leading a rally and calling for capital punishment to the culprit. This is nothing but a political drama to hide her failure in ensuring law and order, which is getting worse by the day in the state.

Parliament debates

Ref: Preventing politics of pandemonium (Aug 17). Two suggestions in Vinay Sahasrabuddhe's column are worth following. The media should highlight only sensible and valuable debates by legislators, irrespective of party affiliation. The House members, even from the opposition, should be free to acknowledge the good deeds of the government without fear of their party bosses. Then only their criticism will have due merit.

Consensus needed

The author has rightly pointed out the disruptive practices in parliament. The irony is that before the commencement of every session an all-party meeting is hosted by the government for smooth conduct and easy passage of bills. Both sides concur to the proposals. But during the sessions, chaos and disruptions rule. While finding flaws in others is acceptable, the author also ought to recollect when his party was on the opposition benches.

Sebi credibility

Ref: The short and long of Hindenburg saga (Aug 17). I concur that the Sebi chief ought to have recused herself when the Supreme Court directed the regulator to investigate the allegations in Hinduburg 1.0. The citizens are entitled to know about the Sebi chief's credibility. Instead of bringing facts to the fore, the ruling party is claiming this is a conspiracy of George Soros to destabilise India.

Karunanidhi coin

It is amusing to see the Centre's decision to release coins bearing the image of Tamil Nadu's former CM Karunanaidhi. The leader's controversial political career included allegations of misdeeds and violent protests in the late 1960s. The Centre's move may open a Pandora's box of similar demands.

PM plan to spur growth of Global South

India's 'Global Development Compact' initiative will focus on trade, technology sharing and concessional financing

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE world leaders, who took part in the third Voice of Global South Summit on Saturday expressed concerns over the prevailing tensions and conflicts around the globe and their impact on the developing countries. They called for unity among the Global South partners to meet the aspirations of the member countries, comprising two-third of the humanity.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi anchored the summit virtually on Saturday.

Global South is a socio-economic-and-politics based grouping of countries, which includes Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean, Asia (excluding Israel, Japan and South Korea) and Oceania (excluding Australia and New Zealand).

Speaking at the summit, Prime Minister Modi said that solutions to concerns over global uncertainties depend on a just and inclusive global governance, "such institutions whose priorities give preference to the Global South, where developed countries also fulfill their responsibilities and commitments, take steps to reduce the gap between the Global North and the Global South." The Summit of the Future at the UN in September could be an important milestone towards this, the PM added.

The PM also proposed the creation of a human-centric 'Global Development Compact' for the member countries to facilitate trade, technology sharing and concessional financing based on India's growth journey and in line with the priorities of the developing nations.

The needy countries will not be burdened with debt in the name of development finance, Modi assured amid concerns over many countries falling into the Chinese 'debt trap' under Beijing's Belt and Road Initiative.

"I would like to propose a comprehensive "Global Development Compact" on behalf of India. The foundation of this Compact will be based on India's development journey and experiences of development partnership," Modi said at the closing session.

"It will be human-centric and multi-dimensional for development and will promote a multi-sectoral approach. It will not burden the needy countries with debt in the name of development finance," he added.

Discussions were also held on the contribution of Digital Public Infrastructure (DPI). "DPI's contribution to inclusive growth is not short of a revolution. The Global DPI Repository, created under India's G20 presidency, was the first ever multilateral consensus on DPI," Modi said.

Agreements to share the 'India Stack' (India's DPI) have been signed with 12 partners from the Global South. India has created a Social Impact Fund to accelerate DPI in the Global South and will make an initial contribution of $25 million for this.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar too, in his address, called for facilitating low-cost financing and critical technologies to developing countries.

"This gathering takes place as the world grapples with multiple conflicts, tensions and stresses. We, the nations of the Global South, are particularly impacted. The purpose of this exchange of views is to define our interests through that process. Hence, the theme of this session — Charting a Unique Paradigm for the Global South," said Jaishankar.

He spoke about four themes — strengthening economic resilience, revitalising multilateralism, climate change and energy transitions, and democratisation of digital transformations.

The leaders who attended the Global South Summit included Bangladesh's chief adviser Prof Muhammad Yunus, Mauritius Prime Minister Pravind Kumar Jugnauth, and Fiji acting Prime Minister Manoa Kamikamica, as well as leaders from El Salvador and Belarus.

Speaking at the summit, Yunus said that the caretaker government in Bangladesh is committed to ensuring a transition to inclusive and pluralistic democracy and creating an environment for holding "free, fair and participatory elections".

Leaders of the Global South exchanged perspectives on priorities and concerns of the Global South. Modi reaffirmed India's commitment to sharing its experiences and expertise with the member nations.

India commits $2.5 mn fund for trade promotion

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday proposed the creation of a human-centric 'Global Development Compact' for the Global South to facilitate trade, technology sharing and concessional financing based on India's growth journey and in line with priorities of the developing countries. He said the 'Compact' will help in the balanced and sustainable development of partner countries. "To strengthen trade promotion activities, India will start a special fund of $2.5 million. Training will be provided in trade policy and trade negotiation for capacity building," he said, adding that a fund of $ 1 million will be provided for this.

RISHAB SHETTY

A CHAMPION OF CULTURE

A SHARADHAA

MANDAR PARDIKAR

IT wasn't much of a surprise when the Kannada breakthrough film Kantara was announced winner of the National Award (in the Best Popular Film Providing Wholesome Entertainment) category. The film that cost ₹16 crore to make, had raked in ₹450 crore globally. It had broken regional boundaries, capturing the imagination of the entire country.

It was even less of a surprise when Rishab Shetty was announced a National Award winner too (for Best Actor). This was a win richly deserved for a performance so profoundly internalised, in a film that ventured into folklore and explored the intricate layers of rural livelihood, drawing inspiration from diverse cultural nuances of the Dakshina Kannada region.

Much like the film itself, Rishab's was no docile work. This was intensity and aggression rarely seen on screen; this was culture so proudly flaunted in all its authenticity. This was an actor possessed, in playing a character who is supposed to be possessed by a forest god. Every person who has seen the film knows that feeling of being in a trance at the end, walking out of the theatre unable to come to grips with the incredulity of the final portions of Kantara. In that rousing end, Rishab ensures total submission to the scene, not once conscious of his own performance.

It helps that Rishab Shetty has been familiar with such traditional folk-dance forms from college. Brought up in the small town of Keradi near Mangaluru, the actor-director's previous films too indicate his interest in local traditions. Speaking with us just after receiving the news of his National Award, Rishab said, "The Kambala races (buffalo racing), the Daiva Narthakas (shamanistic dance)... I use the cinema medium to showcase the innocence and cultural strength of my childhood memories."

Kantara has elevated Rishab Shetty into the cinema consciousness of the country, but it wasn't always this good for the maverick artist. He juggled various vocations (mineral water supplier and a brief foray into the hotel industry, among other experiments) before doing small acting gigs and eventually turning filmmaker with Ricky (2016). But it was another film released in the same year, Kirik Party, that brought in the real laurels. The film was screened for a whole year in Karnataka theatres.

With his next film, Sarkari Hi. Pra. Shaale, Kasaragodu, Koduge: Ramanna Rai (2018), Rishab began showing his interest in rural stories, in the lives of everyday people. In hindsight, it would seem he was getting warmed up for a tour de force in his next directorial venture, Kantara. The divine screams of a man possessed in the climax is among the most unforgettable visuals of Indian cinema in the last decade.

There was little inkling that such excellence was to come when Rishab began his career by doing small acting gigs in films like Tuglak (2012), Attahasa (2013), and Lucia (2013). Rishab decided to turn actor, inspired by the legendary Rajkumar's work. Actor Upendra was another important influence. Rishab's acting recognition eventually came with his big break in Bell Bottom (2019), followed by top grossers like Avane Srimannarayana and Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana (2021). These successes, it would seem, gave him the confidence needed to star in his own directorial, which has fetched him accolade after accolade, now being capped off by a National Award. Rishab is quite pleased by such recognition and said as much in the aftermath of the latest win. "I feel a heightened responsibility to strive for better cinema."

This recognition isn't just a personal win for Rishab; it's a collective win for Kannada cinema. He has long spoken about the heritage of Kannada cinema, living, breathing and revelling in it from childhood. In almost every interview about Kantara's success, you can see him lobbying for the popularity of Kannada cinema, recognising the good work done by the production house, Hombale Films (behind KGF Chapter 2 and Kantara). He now hopes to build on this momentum with his upcoming film, the much-anticipated Kantara prequel. Initial footage already promises another rooted film, full of intensity and spirituality. Armed with the National Award now, we can remain assured that Rishab will entirely devote himself to the task.

UCC bill hangs fire as headless law panel term set to expire on Aug 31

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

DESPITE Prime Minister Modi's renewed push for a Uniform Civil Code, the fate of the proposed legislation appears in limbo as the term of the 22nd Law Commission is set to expire on August 31.

The law panel, tasked with drafting a nationwide UCC — a long-time BJP poll promise — has been headless after Justice Rituraj Awasthi resigned as the chairperson in March this year after he was appointed as a Lokpal judicial member. Though the commission's tenure will expire by the end of the month, there is no clarity on the appointment of the chairman.

The UCC has been an ideological plank of the BJP. However, its NDA allies, the JD(U), LJP and TDP seem to be non-committal about PM Modi's latest pitch for a 'secular code'.

Speaking to this newspaper, Law Ministry sources said the draft will now take longer as the government needs to constitute a new commission and appoint a chairman. "Though consultations were over, the final draft was yet to be prepared," said the official.

According to officials, the commission has held several rounds of consultations with religious scholars, civil society groups, and representatives from various religious and women's organisations to formulate the draft bill. In June last year, the law panel issued a notification calling for the opinion of various stakeholders on the proposed legislation on the UCC. It received over 75 lakh responses on UCC after its notification inviting suggestions.

The UCC, which comes under Article 44 of the Constitution, calls for a common set of laws for all religious communities on matters such as marriage, divorce, adoption, inheritance, and succession.

The Justice Awasthi-led commission has been working on formulating a comprehensive draft bill on UCC since it was constituted in 2022, after a gap of four years.

Key BJP meet to chalk out strategies for assembly polls

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

A DAY after the Election Commission announced the dates for the assembly polls in Haryana and J&K, the BJP held a crucial meeting on Saturday to fine-tune its electoral strategy.

The meeting that continued late in the evening was chaired by party chief JP Nadda and included all national office-bearers and state presidents.

The session began with tributes to Shyama Prasad Mukherjee and other founding figures of the party, with contributions from Nadda, Home Minister Amit Shah, and others. The agenda was focused on discussing the party's membership drive, a key component of its constitutional requirements for electing a new party president. This drive is vital for strengthening the party base ahead of the assembly polls.

Party leaders, including national general secretaries and state presidents, were reportedly briefed on strategies for increasing the party membership and completing necessary formalities. Discussions highlighted the importance of a robust membership pool and effective outreach strategies.

Sources said party's principal strategist Amit Shah emphasized the need for a broad base of party members to enhance electoral prospects. His insights were aimed at ensuring a wider party network.

The Saturday meeting followed a preliminary discussion held on Friday evening at Nadda's residence. This meeting was attended by national general secretaries and focused on optimising the functioning of the NDA and preparing for the upcoming elections.

The party's meetings reflected its proactive approach in preparing for the assembly elections in Haryana and J&K. "Through membership drives and aligning strategies, the party aims to solidify its position and effectively mobilise support ahead of the electoral battles," said a senior leader.

Granting of membership in two phases

Sources said BJP membership will be given in two phases: first for 25 days and second for 15 days. On September 1, party chief JP Nadda is likely to grant first membership to PM Modi. BJP grants membership to everyone after six years afresh. Vinod Tawde has been made in-charge of the national membership drive.

Centre reviews preparedness to tackle Mpox

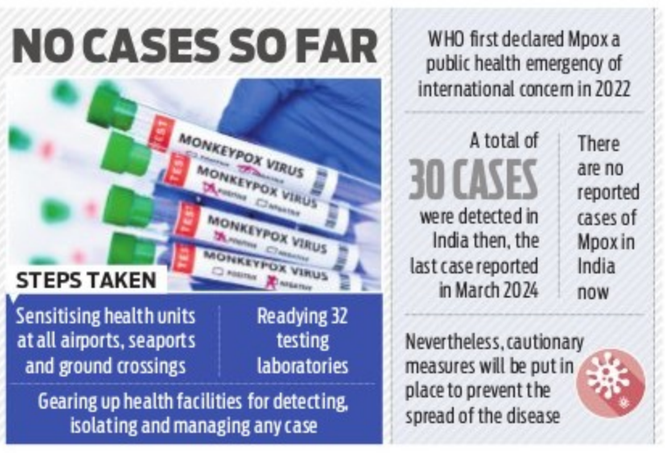
KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Saturday reviewed the Mpox, formerly known as Monkeypox, situation and preparedness in the country after the World Health Organisation (WHO) declared it as a Public Health Emergency of International Concern.

Union Health Minister J P Nadda, who chaired the review meeting, said no cases of Mpox have been detected in India so far. "The government of India is taking proactive measures to prevent and control the potential spread of the disease," Nadda posted on X.

He said the Union Health Ministry is closely monitoring the situation and remains fully committed to safeguarding public health.

In the meeting, it was decided that as a matter of abundant caution, certain measures such as sensitising the health units at all the airports, seaports, and ground crossings; readying 32 testing laboratories; and gearing up health facilities for detecting, isolating and managing any case, etc, are put in place.



NO CASES SO FAR
MONKEYPOX VIRUS
STEPS TAKEN
Sensitising health units at all airports, seaports and ground crossings
Readying 32 testing laboratories
Gearing up health facilities for detecting, isolating and managing any case
WHO first declared Mpox a public health emergency of international concern in 2022
A total of 30 CASES were detected in India then, the last case reported in March 2024
There are no reported cases of Mpox in India now
Nevertheless, cautionary measures will be put in place to prevent the spread of the disease

Although the possibility of a few imported cases being detected in the coming weeks is not entirely ruled out, it was assessed that the risk of a large outbreak with sustained transmission is presently low for India, said a ministry statement.

On August 14, the WHO declared Mpox a global public health emergency for the second time in two years.

According to Dr Rajeev Jayadevan, former president IMA, Cochin, the current outbreak of Mpox differs significantly from the 2022 situation. "The virus now belongs to a different clade, 1b, which only recently jumped from forest animals in Africa to humans in September 2023. Unlike the earlier clade 2b, which was milder and predominantly affected men who have sex with men, the current clade 1b has also infected women and children and has a higher mortality rate. The pattern of global spread is expected to differ as well," he said.

"Therefore, it is crucial not only to contain the virus in the source countries but also to prepare the rest of the world to detect and manage cases as they arise. Early measures will help reduce the global impact," he told this newspaper.

Mpox infections are usually self-limiting lasting between 2-4 weeks and patients generally recover with supportive management. The transmission requires prolonged close contact with an infected case and is generally through the sexual route, direct contact with body/lesion fluid, or contaminated clothing/linen of an infected person.

Globally since 2022, WHO has reported 99,176 cases and 208 deaths due to viral infection from 116 countries. Since the 2022 declaration by WHO, 30 cases were detected in India, the last case in March 2024.

The ministry also said that a Joint Monitoring Group Meeting under the Director General of Health Services, Dr Atul Goel, consisting of experts from relevant fields was held on August 16 to review the situation.

FCI's Covid-time food supply chain ops part of IAS training academy curriculum

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ONE of the most extensive food grain supply chain operations in history by the Food Corporation of India (FCI) during Covid is now set to be a case study for Indian Administrative Service (IAS) probationers. The Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration has included FCI's pandemic response in its curriculum as a model of effective crisis management and logistical planning.

The study, authored by A Rajgopal and DK Shukla, 'Food Challenges due to Covid: The FCI's Response', highlights FCI's monumental effort to maintain food security for 1.3 billion people during the nationwide lockdown. According to the authors, FCI ran the largest-ever food logistics operation in its 56-year history, nearly doubling its productivity levels compared to normal times.

DV Prasad, who served as Chairman and Managing Director of FCI during the pandemic, commented on the operation's scale and impact. "Ensuring uninterrupted foodgrain supply to over 130 crore beneficiaries during such a critical time showcased the robustness of our food security system. The strong institutional framework and efficient transportation network, led by the Indian Railways, were key to making this Herculean task possible," Prasad said.

During the lockdown, FCI moved an impressive 15.7 million metric tonnes of foodgrains at an average of 3.14 million bags per day. It also distributed 28.51 million metric tonnes at an average of 5.7 million bags per day. Prasad noted that this could be the highest-ever foodgrain supply chain operation handled anywhere in the world.

The study also emphasises the logistical challenges faced during the pandemic, including the distribution of food to remote areas, such as igloo-like structures in Himachal, Uttaranchal, Jammu & Kashmir, and even the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, where supplies were delivered by helicopters.

A study in excellence

The Centre for Disaster Management, a research and training unit of Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration, will incorporate the study into its training programme for civil servants. CDM specialises in various aspects of disaster management, including the development of best practices in disaster management.

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

HEALTHCARE services across the country were severely hit on Saturday as the doctors halted non-essential services in government, private and in some corporate hospitals on the Indian Medical Association (IMA)'s call for a 24-hour shutdown to protest the brutal rape and murder of a trainee doctor in a state-run hospital in Kolkata. As senior doctors also joined the strike, in many states, especially in government hospitals, medical services were paralysed entirely.

The nationwide demand by united modern medicine doctors for a central protection act to safeguard healthcare workers from violence forced the Centre to announce that they would constitute a committee to suggest measures for ensuring their safety.

"Representatives of all stakeholders, including the state government, will be invited to share their suggestions with the committee," the health ministry said in a statement. However, hundreds of doctors marched to Jantar Mantar - the protest site in New Delhi, demanding justice. IMA National President, Dr R V Asokan, said, "This is one of the largest-ever shutdowns of medical services across the country."

Many calls of support from various global associations, including the World Medical Association and Commonwealth Medical Association, and letters from Pakistan, Nepal and Singapore medical associations were received, he said.

Faculty members of many government and private hospitals across the country also held candlelight marches, and took out processions. Big private hospitals like Apollo, Fortis, Max and Faridabad-based Amrita hospital and others too extended their support Dr Anju Wali, Medical Director, PSRI Hospital, Saket, said that as a sign of solidarity, their OPDs were closed.

Dr Aashish Chaudhry, Managing Director, Aakash Healthcare, "The unspeakable crime committed against a young medical trainee highlights the critical need for increased protection of healthcare professionals, especially women," he said, adding that they also closed their OPDs in solidarity.

Gujarat doctor brandishes pistol in rally, booked

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A doctor in Gujarat's Amreli city was booked after he allegedly brandished his licensed pistol while addressing a gathering of doctors and medical students protesting the Kolkata rape-murder, police said on Saturday.

The incident occurred around 9:30 p.m. on Friday evening when intern doctors from Shantaba Medical College in Amreli were staging a candlelight march. As they passed through the city's Rajkamal Chowk, Dr Govind Gajera arrived at the scene. While addressing the gathering, Dr Gajera urged the doctors to arm themselves for protection, and publicly brandished his licensed revolver.

"Everyone should carry weapons for safety. In the next five years, such incidents will rise significantly. A weapon is essential for your protection. Given the increasing attacks on doctors, taking safety measures is a must," the doctor stated.

Amreli Deputy Superintendent of Police (DySP) Chirag Desai told the media that the doctor, a private practitioner, brandished his licensed pistol "with the intention to create fear among the public."

Part of ₹1.7K cr Bihar bridge collapses for 3rd time

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A portion of superstructure of the under-construction Sultanganj-Aguwani Ghat bridge connecting Bhagalpur to Khagaria district collapsed and fell into the Ganga river in Bihar on Saturday. However, there is no report of any injury or casualty in the last incident, which took place around 7 am on Saturday.

This is for the third time that the under-construction bridge being built at a cost of ₹1,710 crore has collapsed since its construction started in 2015. The foundation stone of the dream project of Bihar CM Nitish Kumar was laid in 2014. However, only 45% of the work has been completed so far.

The portion between pillar numbers nine and 10 collapsed and fell into the swollen river. The sudden fall of the superstructure drew attention of 'Kawarias' (devotees) taking a bath in the river. They were preparing to leave for Baidyanath Dharma in Jharkhand's Deoghar district to offer holdy water to lord Shiva there.

The devotees captured the entire incident on their mobile phone and uploaded on social media platforms, raising concern over the quality of the construction material being used by the construction company. "There was a loud sound, and the superstructure of the under-construction bridge fell into river," eyewitnesses said.

The bridge is being constructed by a private firm—S P Singhla Construction Private Limited—at a cost of ₹1,710 crore to connect Sultanganj in Bhagalpur with Aguwani Ghat in Khagaria district. It will benefit people of Kosi region comprising Supaul, Saharsa and Madhepura districts.

The bridge is being constructed with a view to ease traffic congestion on the Vikramshila bridge, a critical link in the region. The last time a portion of the bridge had collapsed on June 4, 2023.

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

YET another derailment incident took place when 22 coaches of the Sabarmati Express train (19168) jumped off the tracks near Govindpuri station in Kanpur in the wee hours on Saturday after the engine of the express train hit an "object placed on the track", rail officials said suspecting a foul play.

However, there had been no report of any loss of life or injury in the mishap. A few passengers sustained minor injuries and were given medical attention and first aid at nearby hospitals. The Varanasi-Ahmedabad train derailed between Kanpur and Bhimsen railway station around 2.35 am, said the Northern Central Railway authorities.

"The loco pilot said that some boulder hit the cattle guard (front portion) of the engine which got badly damaged and bent," added the authorities. Railway Board officials did not rule out the involvement of anti-social elements saying that angle was also being looked into as under prima facie it appeared that the engine hit an object placed on track.

Shashi Kant Tripathi, Chief Public Relation Officer (CPRO) of the North Central Railway Zone, said that buses were arranged to ferry the passengers from the accident site to the Kanpur Railway Station.

"Besides, an eight coaches MEMU train departed from Kanpur to the accident site to carry passengers back to Kanpur," Tripathi said.

FRESH PERSPECTIVE

In largest push to lateral hires, govt to recruit 45 this time

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Modi government on Saturday gave its largest push for lateral entry into senior Central government positions across ministries by advertising vacancies for 45 key posts — 10 joint secretaries and 35 directors/deputy secretaries.

The Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) on placed the advertisement for the posts. All of them will be on contract basis. Candidates have to apply online, the advert said.

Through lateral entry, the government aims to bring fresh perspectives into governance.

It was in 2018 that the Modi government opened the lateral entry door and filled over 35 posts in various ministries that otherwise would have gone to IAS, IPS, IFoS, and Group A service officers. The contract will be valid for three years, which could be extended to five years depending on performance. The lateral hires come with special skillsets from the private sector. The last date to submit application forms is September 17 through the UPSC's website. About 10 lateral hires will be placed as joint secretaries in Home, Finance and Steel ministries, and 35 others will be selected for director/deputy secretary roles in Agriculture & Farmers Welfare, Civil Aviation, and Information & Broadcasting.

The eligibility criteria will vary according to the role, and the salary competitive. Gender balance will be kept in mind during the recruitment drive. Officers hired through lateral level play an important role in policy-making.

As per official data, 63 appointments have been made so far through lateral entry, out of which 35 were from the private sector. At present, 57 such officers are in various positions in ministries/departments.

Candidates in the age group of 40-45 years can apply for the joint secretary's role. Selected candidates would get around ₹2.7 lakh as gross salary, including dearness, transport and house rent allowances.

For director level posts, candidates in the 35-45 years age group are eligible.

MP madrasas under govt scanner over 'conversions'

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE Madhya Pradesh government has decided to act against government-aided Madrasas which are forcing students to take religious education or attend worship without consent. Acting on recommendations by the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR), the Directorate of Public Instructions (DPI) issued a detailed order in this regard on Friday.

According to the directions, physical verification will have to be carried out at all government-aides Madrasas to check if they, in violation of Article 28(3) of the Constitution, are imparting religious education or compelling students to attend worship (contrary to their faith) without consent of the students or guardians. The order also stipulates physical verification of the recognized government-aided Madrasas and relevant records to ensure that none of the students (Muslims and non-Muslims) have been fraudulently enrolled for obtaining government grants.

The Commissioner (DPI) Shilpa Gupta said the action has been initiated statewide following communication from the NCPCR and news reports about government-aided Madrasas fraudulently registering non-Muslim students for obtaining government grants. The NCPCR had also flagged incidents where non-Muslim students were forced to get religious education.

Flagged in 2021-22

The NCPCR had flagged issues pertaining to Madrasas even since 2021-22, identifying several erring institutions in Vidisha and Datia districts following an inspection. The state's school education department had recently decided to cancel the recognition of 61 Madrasas in Sheopur and Ratlam district for running on paper, just to get grants

RSS objects, but BJP to go with Ajit in Maha elections

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

DESPITE reservations by RSS, the top leadership of the BJP has decided to go along with Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar-led NCP for the upcoming Maharashtra state assembly elections.

The development follows the abysmal performance of the Mahayuti in Lok Sabha elections where it bagged 17 of the 48 seats, while the Opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) won the highest of 31 seats.

Blaming the Pawar-led NCP for dismal performance, the RSS mouthpiece 'Organiser' said the different ideology and damaged image of Pawar led to the BJP-led alliance's poor performance. Subsequently, another RSS mouthpiece Marathi weekly Vivek echoed the same views and indirectly asked the BJP to break the alliance with Pawar. However, Pawar and his top leaders had a confidential meeting with top BJP leaders in Delhi where the former was assured that no alliance will be broken with him and all three parties — BJP, Shiv Sena and NCP will go together for the upcoming state assembly elections.

As per sources, the BJP leadership conveyed the message to RSS through Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis that the alliance with NCP is the need of the hour.

"BJP is not in a position to contest the elections on its own. The alliance with Chief Minister Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena and Ajit Pawar-led NCP is necessary to take on the MVA", a senior NCP leader said.

Mediators preparing to implement truce deal: US

JERUSALEM: In a sign that mediators believe a Gaza cease-fire deal is imminent, a US official said Friday that West Asia negotiators are working out logistics for the potential release of hostages and distribution of aid as part of any agreement to end the Israel-Hamas war. The official, who spoke to reporters on condition of anonymity in keeping with rules set by the White House, said the proposal currently on the table basically bridges every gap between Israel and Hamas and mediators were making preparations before a final deal is approved. It was unclear what measures were being taken, but the official said a new "implementation cell" was being established in Cairo in advance. The cell would focus on logistics, including freeing hostages, providing humanitarian aid for Gaza and ensuring that the terms of the pact are met, the official said. The comments came hours after mediators expressed hope that a deal was within reach. They said two days of talks had wrapped up in Qatar and that they plan to reconvene in Cairo next week to seal an agreement to stop the fighting. Israel issued a vague statement saying it appreciated the mediators' efforts, and a statement from Hamas did not sound enthusiastic about the latest proposal to end the devastating 10-month war and free Israeli hostages held in Gaza. 10 KILLED IN ISRAELI ATTACK ON SOUTH LEBANON

LEBANON

LEBANON'S health ministry said an Israeli air strike on Saturday in southern Lebanon killed 10 Syrians, as the Israeli military reported hitting weapons stores of the Iran-backed Hezbollah movement.

The early morning strike hit a building in the Wadi al-Kafur area of Nabatieh. Among the dead was a mother and her two children, Lebanon's health ministry said. Israel's military said aircraft had struck a Hezbollah weapons storage facility. At the hospital, relatives and friends of the victims expressed shock and anger at their sudden deaths, with women dressed in black weeping and wailing.

"Two of my sister's children were killed, another is in intensive care, and my other nephew is also in intensive care," said Hussein Al-Hussein, holding back tears as he listed relatives killed or wounded in the strike. "They were sleeping, they didn't know anything. They were young labourers, and the Israeli air force targeted them." The civilian toll from the strike was one of the highest in southern Lebanon since Hezbollah and Israel began exchanging near daily cross-border fire during the Gaza war.

The official Lebanese National News Agency reported that the casualties were Syrian refugees and labourers working at the factory that had been hit.

Israel's military, on its Telegram channel, said its air force had struck a Hezbollah weapons storage facility overnight "in the area of Nabatieh", about 12 kilometres from the border with Israel.

Omar al-Shahud, who works in the factory, said he was lucky to escape death because he did not live in the targeted annexe. "Six of my relatives were killed. They had nothing to do with" the war, he said in an angry voice. "They were workers who came here to earn a living." In a nearby room, crying relatives mourned a family of four: the factory building's concierge, his wife and two children aged four and one and a half, a family member told AFP.Their bodies were shrouded in red cloth and adorned with flowers. Lebanon has long heavily relied on Syrians for manual labour, especially in agriculture and construction. AFP

₹21,201 Cr worth of Indian equities FPIs sold as of August 16, the net outflows stood at ₹9,653 cr

These banks are offering 8.5% at the peak, nearly 20-30 bps more than larger banks

Mid-sized banks vying for deposits

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

BORROWING a leaf from their larger peers who have been wooing depositors with attractive pricing for medium-term fixed deposits of up to 7.30% return per annum, several mid-tier banks are now doing the same offering as much as 8.50% at the peak and over average 20-30 bps more than the larger banks.

Mid-sized banks, which have launched special deposit drive include RBL Bank, Bank of Maharashtra, Federal Bank, Bandhan Bank, and Tamilnad Mercantile Bank among others to increase in deposits.

Continuing slower growth of deposit mobilisation for more than two months had the regulator Reserve Bank and even the North Block mandarins getting worried about asset liability mismatch. People were pulling out money from banks and parking them in equities and mutual funds and even derivatives since the pandemic-induced crash in March 2020 and the subsequent recovery from June of that year. Since then the stock market and mutual funds were giving much higher returns on their money.

While credit growth has been averaging 15-16% system-wide, deposits accretion has been far lower averaging at 11-12% for the past few years. In FY24, credit growth was at 19.3% and deposit growth was 14.7%, forcing banks to offer higher prices for term deposits.

Kochi-based Federal Bank has unveiled a limited period fixed deposit scheme offering 7.35% for a 400-day money, 7.40% for 777 days, and 50-month tenor for callable deposits. It is offering an additional 0.50% to senior citizens. If you put in non-callable deposits above ₹1 crore, it is offering 7.50% for 400 days; 7.55% for a 777 day money.

RBL Bank is offering 8.10% for 500-day money and 8.60% for senior citizens. Pune-based Bank of Maharashtra is offering 7.25% for 777 days tenor in a limited period offer. Turticorin-based Tamilnad Mercantile Bank is offering 7.50% on fixed deposits for 400-day tenor and 8% for senior citizens.

In June and July large lenders like State Bank, HDFC Bank, Bank of Baroda, Union Bank of India, Canara Bank, Bank of India, Central Bank of India and Punjab National Bank, among others, launched special fixed deposit schemes to mobilise deposits at a faster pace to support credit growth.

Some of these large banks, in the meanwhile have also hiked their lending rates as well to protect their margins, which analysts war will fall by 25-30% this fiscal as deposit pricing keep on rising.

The banks, which have increased their loan pricing — so far only MCLR-based loans which are typically short term corporate loans include SBI which earlier this week upped the MCLR loan rate by 10 bps across tenors, Bank of Baroda, Canara Bank, and Uco Bank had also hiked their MCLR based loans by 5 bps.

Typically banks earn more when their interest expense, which is what they pay for their funds is lower. In a normal scenario, banks price deposits/liabilities lower than their assets/loans to protect their margins/spreads.

In the current scenario, banks are forced to raise domestic deposits at higher prices, because even raising money from outside is no longer lucrative as the interest in the overseas markets are also at decadal high.

According to rating agency Crisil, banks profitability is set to moderate due to higher cost of deposits given the continued re-pricing at elevated rates. Deposit costs are expected to increase 25-30 bps this fiscal after having risen 140 bps since the start of the rate tightening cycle in May 2022. As a result, net interest margin (NIM) is likely to compress 10-20 bps this fiscal to 3-3.1%.

In contrast, if the Reserve Bank cuts repo rate it would trigger faster repricing of loans downwards as over 40% of advances are linked to an external benchmark, primarily the repo rate. Together, these factors indicate a compression in net interest margin (NIM) in fiscal 2025 and transmission on the assets and liabilities sides will continue into fiscal 2026, the agency said.

Federal Bank has unveiled limited period special fixed deposit scheme offering up to 7.40%

If you put in non-callable deposits above ₹1 cr, the bank is offering 7.5% for 400 days; for 777-day 7.55%

RISING DEPOSIT RATES

RBL BANK, BANK OF MAHARASHTRA, FEDERAL BANK, BANDHAN BANK, AND TAMILNAD MERCANTILE BANK, AMONG OTHERS, HAVE LAUNCHED SPECIAL DEPOSIT DRIVE

RBL Bank is offering 8.10% for 500-day money and 8.60% for senior citizens

PUNE-BASED STATE-RUN BANK OF MAHARASHTRA IS OFFERING A RATE OF 7.25% FOR 777 DAYS TENOR IN A LIMITED PERIOD OFFER

Tamilnad Mercantile Bank is offering 7.50% on fixed deposits for 400-day tenor and 8% for senior citizens

COUNTING THE COST OF MINING AND QUARRYING

GURBIR SINGH

THE below-the-radar mines and minerals industry is back in the news. A full bench of the Supreme Court has ruled the states have the right to levy taxes on mining operations, overturning an earlier 1989 verdict which had held only the Union government had the power to impose such royalties.

The court has made the ruling retrospective from 2005, opening up a Pandora's box of fresh costs for mining companies. Some estimates put the combined hit at over ₹2 lakh crore.

Mineral-rich states like Odhisa and Jharkhand will celebrate a new source of revenue, while mining companies will tear their hair reworking their costs. But where is environmental sustainability in all these calculations?

The Union and state governments, as custodians of lakhs of acres of forest and public land, have been ramping up mining operations for coal, iron ore, lignite and limestone to serve the rising demand for power, steel and cement.

It was a therefore a bold assertion by the Prime Minister in his Independence Day speech that India is ahead of all G20 nations on Climate Action and for achieving its renewable energy targets by 2030. Seen in the context of destruction of the environment by increasing mining operations, this claim sounded alittle hollow.

Destroying communities

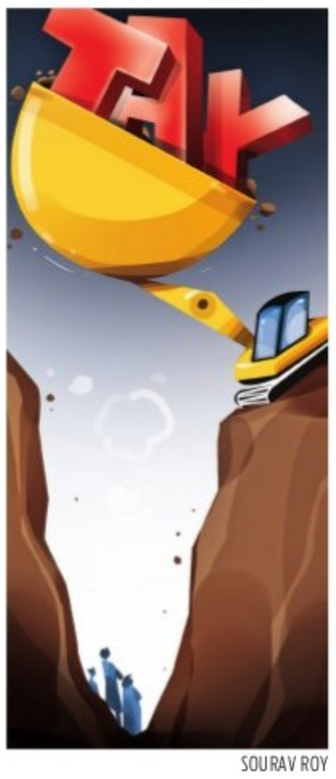
India's mining sector grew 7.5 per cent in FY24, with production of iron ore and limestone recording high growth during the year. Production of iron ore was at 277 million metric tonne (MMT) in 2023-24 against 258 MMT in 2022-23, registering a growth of 7.4 per cent.

While these figures indicate rising industrial production, the unrestricted exploitation of natural resources without the legally-required environmental protection measures, is proving to be devastating.

Let's take the example of coal. It's the dirtiest of fossil fuels and India has signed agreements to gradually phase out its use. Yet in the medium-term, the government has committed to double coal production, reaching 1.5 billion tonnes by2030. Union power minister Raj Kumar Singh at the Dubai world Environment conference – COP28 – said the target was to add 88 gigawatts of thermal power plants by 2032.

Government officials justify the expanding footprint of coal, arguing there is parallel development of renewable energy – wind and solar. The target is 500 gigawatts of renewables by 2030; but the rate at which solar and wind power was installed over the past few years, it is about a third of what's needed, according to BloombergNEF.

The mining industry today is a threat to both indigenous communities as well as to our natural resources. The operations are in jungles and among backward communities and tribals, therefore inviting little scrutiny.



SOURAV ROY

Gebra, in Korba, Chattisgarh, India's largest coal mine spread over 19 sq kms, produces 35 million tonnes of coal per year. It's expansion has denuded large forest areas and has disturbed the natural grazing habitats of elephants. This is turn has pushed the elephant herds into attacking village resources, leading to a major man-animal conflict, and even deaths.

In another well-known case, Vedanta, that had a concession for mining bauxite in the Niyamgiri Hills for its alumina plant in Laljigarh, Odhisa, attempted to oust the Dongria Kondh tribesmen from their traditional habitat. The tribes fought back. The legal battle went all the way to the Supreme Court, which in 2013 ruled in favour of the traditional rights of the tribes and the cultural and religious importance of their habitat.

Environmental damage

Extensive mining not only threatens communities but also natural resources such as top soil. Open cast coal mining, for example, is a major villain that depletes the nitrogen-richsoil and leaves behind miles of arid land and dust, unsuitable for any future planting or farming.

In the case of the Mussoorie Hills, limestone quarrying had a significant degrading effect on the entire Doon Valey. The limestone imbedded in the hillsides worked as a catchment for rain water that settled amidst porous webs of deposits. These worked as aquifers, releasing water after the monsoon into canals that fed the Dehradun valley during summer.

The uncontrolled quarrying led to a massive water shortage in the valley; and – worst of all – the hillsides became a mess of landslides as the continuous clawing on the slopes wiped out the trees whose roots held the gravelly hillslopes together. Limestone mining in the Doon Valley was finally banned. It's a four-decade old story, but is now being repeated in Wayanad and other parts of the Western Ghats.

It is not that the law has no teeth. The Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957 and now its 2023 version,empowers the Union government to frame rules for mineral conservation, and protection of the environment. The Mineral Conservation and Development Rules (MCDR), 2017, especially Rule 40, provides detailed steps to prevent air pollution and gaseous emissions.

A not-so-recent Comptroller and Auditor General's (CAG) report observed that during 2013-18, out of the 28 mines studied, pollutants exceeded the limits prescribed by Bureau of Indian Standards in 8 mines. It also said these mines continued to use ground water for their daily operations without permission.

Revenue from mining royalties can be calculated. But counting the cost of long-term environmental damage from mining and quarrying is a far more difficult task.

Discount brokers' market share rises

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DISCOUNT brokers continue to chip away market share from traditional/full-service brokerages, with top five of them raising their market share to 64.6% in July, up from 58.1% in the year-ago period.

Meanwhile, brokerages added 4.5 million new demat accounts in July, taking the total to 167 million in the month, up 35% year-on-year at 123 million and 3% jump on a monthly basis. This has the average monthly account additions of 3.9 million so far in the current fiscal, as per the data from traditional brokerage Motilal Oswal sourced from the exchanges and NSDL and CSDL.

Top five discount brokers account for 64.6% of total NSE active clients in July, up from 58.1% in July 2022, increasing the number of active clients on the NSE by 3.2% to 45.7 million in July, the brokerage said.

Groww toppled Zerodha to become the top brokerage in terms of clients in August 2023, and continues to add more clients and market share in July, recording 4.9% month-on-month rise in its client count to 11.5 million, and increasing its market share 40 bps to 25.1%. In July 2023, Groww had 18.8% market share and toppled Zerodha next month with 19.9% market share. On the other hand, Zerodha continued to lose share as it added only 1.7% more clients to 7.8 million in the reporting month, and lost 25 bps to 17.1%. Zerodha at its peak had a market share of 19.8% in July 2023 and since then has been losing.

Angel One saw a 3.8% growth in its client count to 7 million, adding 10 bps to market share to 15.3%, Upstox clocked a 2.7% rise in its client count to 2.7 million, and controlled 6% market share and 5Paisa lost 44 bps of its market share to 1.2%.

On the other hand, traditional brokers led by ICICI Securities, which is being delisted, reported client count at 1.9 million, and lost 10 bps to 4.2%. IIFL Securities added 0.5 million clients and had 1% market share.

While the proposed F&O curbs has had its impact on NSE volume, it did in fact help BSE raise its volume share. The market share of BSE in the total cash segment came in at 7.1% in July, up from 6% in July 2023.

FM calls for more discussion on reforms of MDBs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU@ New Delhi

FINANCE minister Nirmala Sithraman has called for views on actions needed to reform multilateral development banks(MDBs), and how the global south can collaborate better to raise the issue of debt distress faced by the low income countries.

She was addressing the finance ministers' (virtual) session of the 3rd Voice of Global South Summit. Sitharaman said high debt service costs have constrained resource available for financing developmental needs, particularly in low income countries.

"It is critical that the financing requests made to MDBs are met with speed and agility. This will require reforms at operational levels as well as identifying new additional sources of finance," the minister said.

She reiterated that dedicated concessional windows should be made available for middle income countries to address climate-related challenges on private capital mobilization.

"MDBs need to engage with credit trading agencies and explore how to better incentivise the flow of private capital or development financing," said the finance minister.

Citing the World Bank's June 2024 report, which states that by the end of this year, one in four developing economies will be poorer than they were before the pandemic, she highlighted that growth remains insufficient to drive progress in development and poverty reduction.

India needs to create 148 mn addl jobs by 2030: Gopinath

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA needs to create an additional 148 million jobs by 2030 given the population growth, IMF's First Deputy Managing Director Gita Gopinath said on Saturday.

"If you look at India's projections in terms of population growth, India will have to create anywhere between 60 million to 148 million additional jobs cumulatively between now and 2030. We are already in 2024, so in a short period of time we have to create a lot of jobs," she said while speaking at the Delhi School of Economics Diamond Jubilee event in New Delhi. She said it is going to require basic reforms including land reforms and implementation of labour codes to achieve employment generation of that scale.

Gopinath said that to generate more jobs there is a need for an increase in private investment as it is not commensurate with 7% growth in GDP.

Vondrousova, Norrie withdraw from US Open

Marketa Vondrousova, the 2023 Wimbledon champion, and Cam Norrie pulled out of the US Open on Friday because of injuries. Vondrousova has been sidelined by a hurt hand, and the 47th-ranked Norrie has a forearm problem. Vondrousova won her first Grand Slam title at Wimbledon last year and was the runner-up at the 2019 French Open.

Javelin ace Neeraj, who won silver in Paris, set to take part in Lausanne Diamond League before taking a call on surgery to treat groin injury which has been troubling him for some time

MINDFUL & AIMING FOR SKY

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

ON August 8, Neeraj Chopra won his second Olympic medal in front of a packed crowd at Stade de France during the Paris Olympics. In less than two weeks, India's Javelin star has put that medal aside to start preparing for the next challenge in the capital of Switzerland. A victory parade for one of the most decorated track and field athletes can wait for now as he plans to participate in the Lausanne Diamond League before taking a well-deserved break. "Initially, I was thinking I would participate in the Zurich Diamond League (5 September) and then the final one in Brussels (13-14 September). However, myself and the team have decided to participate in the Lausanne Diamond League (August 22)," Chopra told reporters in a media interaction from Switzerland.

While Chopra gave his season-best in Paris to win a silver medal despite carrying a groin injury, he is keen to complete the season before consulting with the doctors for surgery. "Luckily, the injury was under control in Paris. And we thought just like the previous season during the Tokyo Olympics, we would continue with the season instead of coming to India. The final decision about the treatment will happen once I talk with doctors after the season. There is one month left in the season, so I plan to communicate with doctors once I have some free time. I plan to come to India at the end of September."

When asked about what was going through his mind during the Games, especially after his Pakistani counterpart, Arshad Nadeem landed a 92.97 m throw, Chopra candidly opened up about how at no point he thought that the target was not achievable. "At no point, I thought, I could not do better. In Javelin, if you are throwing well, you can achieve that extra 3-4 metres. If we talk about Arshad Nadeem, his last personal best was 90.18 m which happened in the Commonwealth Games. And mine was 89.94 m. His throw went ahead and it wasn't the case that I could not have done that but somewhere I could not push myself. The legwork needed on the runway was not there. My second throw was around the same time when Nadeem threw his best one. At that time, I was positive and that's how my throw came in but after that somehow I was not able to push myself. If your legwork and technique are not spot on, you cannot throw at your best no matter how much you try," the 26-year-old mentioned.

> Hopefully, the next time, all the fourth finishes get converted into medals and all the bronze or silver medal finishes make it to gold.
> — Neeraj Chopra

While Nadeem and many other competitors of Chopra have been able to cross the 90 m mark, that number has been beyond his reach even though he has talked about not thinking about it on many occasions. Moving forward, his focus is to remain injury-free and work more on his technique. "If I want to increase the distance from here, I have to remain injury-free. In my mind, I want to give my 100% best while throwing but because the injury has been going on, I could not give my 100% best. Somewhere my mind and body were holding me back there. There is some hesitation and I want to work on that first."

The groin injury that held Chopra back surfaced at the start of the season in 2023 ahead of the Doha Diamond League where he was advised to undergo the surgery. However, Chopra and his team decided to continue competing with the Paris Games in mind. "When I went to Doha (May 2023), doctors had asked me to perform surgery, when it was just a few months before the World Championship (August 2023). I wanted to win that World Championship gold and my preparation for that was going so well. The biggest issue with the groin injury is that you don't know when the pain will start. We didn't go ahead with the surgery because the entire cycle would have passed for me without the World Championship and we were not sure how much recovery would have been possible for the Olympics. So that's why we decided to play safe. We thought we would decide about surgery after the Olympics," he explained. He also spoke about the changes he had seen in fellow Indian athletes at the Olympic level. "Our athletes were fighting against some of the best athletes. We have to stay mentally strong if we are to compete at these levels. I met Lakshya (Sen) and other young athletes and they were fearless. I know with the number of medals we have less compared to the previous one but if Vinesh (Phogat) had won her medal, we would have been in a better place. And I think we had more fourth place finishes than Tokyo this time around," he signed off.

WEIGHTLIFTING

Mirabai & coach Sharma shift focus to Asiad, CWG

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

WEIGHTLIFTER Mirabai Chanu fell short of a bronze medal at the 2024 Paris Olympics just by a kilogram. The Tokyo Games silver medallist was the favourite to add to her tally in the recently concluded quadrennial event but that was not to be. The loss might be heartbreaking but it failed to break the 30-year-old weightlifter's spirit.

Quickly moving on from the Paris defeat, Mirabai and head coach Vijay Sharma have set their eyes on upcoming events including the 2026 Asian Games and Commonwealth Games. Currently, on a much-needed break, the duo is expected to reunite in a couple of months to chalk out future roadmap. "It's been years since I have taken a long break so I have taken one month's leave. Similarly, Mira is on a two-month break. I will spend time with my family while she also plans to make up for the lost time by being with her family in Manipur," coach Sharma told this daily from his hometown Modinagar, Uttar Pradesh.

She finished fourth in the women's 49kg last week as she could not lift 114kg in her third and final clean and jerk attempt. Mirabai lifted a total of 199kg (88kg in snatch+111kg in C&J) at the South Paris Arena. It was 3kgs less than what she heaved at the Tokyo Olympics (202 kg) for a silver medal. Surodchana Khambao from Thailand bagged the bronze for her effort of 200kg (88kg+112kg).

China's Hou Zhihui defended her title by smashing the clean and jerk Olympic record. She lifted an overall weight of 206kg (89kg+117kg). Romanian Mihaela Cambei took home the silver with a total of 205kg (93kg+112kg). "I am not done yet. The same is true with Mirabai. The lifter might have taken a break but she will work on her fitness and strength. It will not be apt to talk about the next Olympics in 2028 but yes we will prepare for the 2026 CWG and Asian Games. Both of us want to win more medals for the country and we will continue our quest for it," added Sharma.

Mirabai had won bagful of medals including gold in the 2017 World Championships and CWG (2018 and 2022) but the Asian Games medal is missing from her trophy cabinet. It might have spurred her on to continue in the same vein leaving behind the Olympic failure.

As her wont, Mirabai was not dejected despite the medal slipping away from her. "It was going good, whatever the coach said I did. It is just destiny that I did not get medal, I did my best," she had said with a smile on her face. It looks like the former world champion will look to add another chapter to her glorious career when she returns to the weightlifting platform after a couple of months.

Academy for future

Apart from coaching his trainees at the national camp, Sharma intends to produce world-class lifters at his yet-to-be officially inaugurated academy in Modinagar. While he was away on national duty, the facility started functioning with around 30 lifters training at the place.

"It has been a dream to give top facilities to aspiring lifters and this academy will fulfill it. Although it has not been inaugurated yet but its been functional for a month now. It has all the facilities a weightlifting academy can offer including two coaches, a sauna and a steam bath. The equipment are world-class. My aim is to train lifters between the age group of eight and 11 as that is the perfect age to groom world beaters. But that doesn't mean I will not work with national campers. I hope to look after both jobs simultaneously," signed off the coach.

After freak neck injury, Sai Kishore ready for long season

GOMESH S @Chennai

WHEN R Sai Kishore delivered a Player of the Match performance (4/33) for Gujarat Titans against Punjab Kings in late April, he was the talk of the town. 'How can he not start every match? What more does he have to do?' The debate continued as the Tamil Nadu all-rounder was in and out of the playing XI that featured Rashid Khan and Noor Ahmad. Sai Kishore, at the time, was not worried one bit. He was content and enjoying what he does best on the field. But, little did he know what was to come.

On one of the days that followed, Sai Kishore went to play golf, hit 20 odd balls, had his share of fun and returned. But the next day he woke up, the 27-year-old had a stiff neck. The pain only got worse through the day and he had to leave the tournament midway. "It was a freak injury," recalls Sai Kishore in a conversation with this daily. "I have been playing golf for five years, suddenly this happened. That day I did not expect (it at all). I hit very few balls, maybe 20 or so. That PBKS game where I got four wickets, after that immediately next game it happened (he would play only two more games after the PBKS match). I was even not able to function normally for at least two-three weeks."

Having left the Titans squad, Sai Kishore checked himself in at the National Cricket Academy, Bengaluru where he would spend the next two months. "We use the neck for everything. If you have to walk, sleep, that was the challenge. I think a lot of people helped me. The GT physio, I was in so much pain I called Thulasi anna (Thulasi Ram Yuvaraj, physio at the NCA), the people in NCA, trainer Harsha... In TNPL also people helped, my personal masseur.. hard to single out. More than anyone, my wife helped me so much. I was not able to move or sit. Every two hours, I used to keep alarms just to wake up and walk. I was in so much pain," he recalls.

After two months of rehab, Sai Kishore made a comeback in the TNPL for Tiruppur Tamizhans, but even then, he was not there fully as a bowler. He missed the first few matches, but with Vijay Shankar getting injured, he wanted to take up the responsibility. Predominantly playing as a batter, he led the team to the play-offs before falling short in Qualifier 2 against Dindigul Dragons. In seven matches, he bowled only 16.5 overs, but he was adapting to a different challenge. "I was very grateful to be back. Honestly, to get back to normal life only was an achievement, cricket was a bonus. Usually in Ranji, if I am in doubt, I bowl. If it's a pressure over, I bowl, but there I could not. Off the field, I had to make sure others were ready to take responsibility."

It was only after the TNPL, almost five months including IPL and rehab, Sai Kishore got the chance to get some downtime at home in Chennai. The 15-20 days he got, he tried to make the most of it. After all, he knew what lay ahead. A long domestic season starting with Buchi Babu and then, Duleep Trophy. Sai Kishore played the fourth round of the first division league for Vijay CC against Globe Trotters bowling 26 overs across two innings with three wickets to show. While he will be leading the TNCA XI, Sai Kishore is in Team B for the opening round of the Duleep Trophy, alongside Ravindra Jadeja, Washington Sundar and Rahul Chahar. "I feel so confident because I have never trained in the block I have now. Maybe before getting into the IPL, I would have trained like this. Waking up at 4 AM, training and then, bowling. I haven't put in as many hours as I have this pre-season in the past four-five years. During the IPL, you don't get time, you focus on recovery. After TNPL, I had a 15-20 day break, and used it to the best. "I feel I am one of the best spinners in the country. Put me in a Test match, I am ready. So, I am not worried too much. Jadeja is there, I have never played alongside him. I have been with him in CSK, but never played together in red-ball format. So, it will be a good learning experience in terms of what he does. In saying that, I feel confident. I am ready more than ever."

FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

Liverpool & Arsenal make winning starts

AGENCIES @Ipswich (UK)

ARNE Slot got off to a winning start as Liverpool manager with a 2-0 win at newly-promoted Ipswich on Saturday as Arsenal began their Premier League title challenge by beating Wolves by the same scoreline.

Newcastle defied an early red card for Fabian Schar to edge past Southampton 1-0, while Brighton ran riot under new manager Fabian Hurzeler in a 3-0 victory at Everton.

Slot has huge shoes to fill at Anfield after the departure of Jurgen Klopp, who restored the Reds to the top of the English game. The Dutchman was left less than impressed by his side's first 45 minutes at Portman Road as Ipswich flew out of the traps on their return to the Premier League for the first time in 22 years.

However, Liverpool were a different side after the break as goals from Diogo Jota and Mohamed Salah barely reflected their dominance to get Slot off to the perfect start.

Arsenal have finished second to Manchester City in each of the past two seasons and are highly-fancied to be the champions' closest challengers again. Kai Havertz opened the scoring at the Emirates from Bukayo Saka's cross to reward the Gunners' early dominance.

However, Mikel Arteta's men needed a vital save from David Raya to deny Jorgen Strand Larsen and Matheus Cunha missed a huge chance to level before Arsenal made the points safe. The roles from the first goal were reversed as this time Havertz teed up Saka to lash home.

HOW AMERICA ELECTS ITS PRESIDENT

The afterglow of the botched assassination attempt on Donald Trump appears to be waning, making him grumpy, as his rival Democratic Party presidential candidate Kamala Harris picks up steam and forges ahead with undecided voters leaning towards her as the better option

T K VINEETH @ Kochi

THE US presidential election, the most watched poll in the world, is set to go right down to the wire. If former president Donald Trump was seen as the clear front-runner a few weeks ago — his ratings soared after the failed assassination attempt on him -- the scenario flipped after President Joe Biden withdrew from the race to make way for Vice President Kamala Harris. According to an analysis by the Economist, Biden had just 21% chance of getting re-elected on July 21, the day he bowed out.

After initial hiccups, Harris managed to close the gap with Trump and, according to the latest surveys, she has a slight edge over the Republican presidential nominee nationally while the race remains neck-and-neck in key battleground states, which is also seen swinging in favour of the presumptive Democratic presidential nominee.

WHAT SURVEYS SAY

As of August 16, most surveys give Harris an edge over Trump. According to FiveThirtyEight's popularity polling average, Harris leads Trump 46.3% to 43.5%. RealClearPolitics' tracker shows Harris leads at 45.6% against Trump's 44.5%. Plus, Harris has a narrow lead in six out of the seven swing states. If elections were held now, Harris would get 46% support from registered voters whereas 45% would pick Trump, says a Pew Research Center survey.

This is a major shift considering that just a month ago, Trump was leading his then rival Biden 44% to 40%. Harris' entry also hurt the prospects of independent presidential candidate Robert F Kennedy, whose support base halved from 15% last month to just 7% by mid-August, according to the Pew survey. Another survey done by Outward Intelligence claims Harris is way above Trump at 49% to 43%.

Fox News seems to be the only one showing Trump in the lead. According to the latest Fox News national survey, Harris trails Trump by 1 point at 49% to 50%.

The above figures are the national average. As for the seven battleground states, which can 'swing' to favour either candidate, a survey from the Cook Political Report Swing State Project claims Harris has an edge across all seven swing states.

BATTLE FOR BATTLEGROUND STATES

By all indications, the election will come down to a handful of battleground states. Precisely because these states can be won by either candidate, political parties spend a lot of time and money there.

According to the average of all surveys by FiveThirtyEight, Harris has a 0.9% lead in Arizona, 0.2% lead in Georgia, 2.9% lead in Michigan, 2.3% in Pennsylvania, and 3.3% Wisconsin. Trump has a 0.5% lead in North Carolina while it is a tie in Nevada.

Most surveys indicate that 5% of the respondents haven't yet made up their mind on whom to vote. Both camps are vying to woo this segment.

MAJOR ISSUES, POLICIES

Economy, inflation, jobs, and immigration crisis are the major issues for most voters. Trump is perceived to have an advantage over Harris on the economy. However, reports say Harris is seeking to blunt this edge by touting her own economic plans, including proposals to lower costs for families. On the other key issues, the two candidates offer starkly different visions. On immigration, for example, Harris is widely expected to offer citizenship for undocumented immigrants while Trump's plan is to complete the border wall and stop the flow of immigrants coming through Mexico.

Harris is likely to take forward most of Biden's policies. However, some analysts believe her decision to pick Minnesota Governor Tim Walz as vice presidential nominee is a sign that the US' unconditional support for Israel in its war against Hamas in Gaza may be reviewed. Harris is expected to continue or bolster the war funding for Ukraine, though.

Trump, on the other hand, is both ambiguous and ambivalent about his plans for Israel and Ukraine. He claims he will end the wars within 24 hours of assuming office but there is no clarity on how he will go about it. In the past, he has questioned the need for bankrolling Ukraine in its war with Russia. Trump in his recent unmoderated discussion on X with the platform's owner Elon Musk had said he would slash all 'wasteful' government funding.

ELECTION PROCESS

Trump has been officially chosen as the Republican Party's presidential nominee. Harris is yet to be formally declared the Democratic Party's presidential pick; the formal announcement will be made in the Democratic National Convention to be held in Chicago from August 19 to 22. After that formality, her name will be entered on the general ballot. The US Presidential election is on November 5.

Unlike other US elections, the President is not elected directly by citizens by popular vote. Instead, he or she is chosen through the Electoral College process.

In all, there are 538 electors in the Electoral College and a candidate needs to have the vote of at least 270 electors to win the presidential election. If there is a 269-269 tie, then the newly-elected House of Representatives would determine the winner.

Each of the 50 states is allocated presidential electors equal to the number of its representatives and senators. Barring Maine and Nebraska, all states use a 'winner-take-all system, in which all electoral votes are given to the popular vote winner. It means, if a majority of voters in a state vote for the Republican presidential candidate, then the Republican slate of electors is chosen. If a majority vote for the Democratic presidential candidate, the Democratic slate of electors is chosen. Maine and Nebraska award one electoral vote to the popular vote winner in each of their congressional districts and the remaining two electoral votes to the statewide winner.

While the projected winner is announced on the election night (November 5) itself, the actual Electoral College vote takes place on December 17 when the electors meet in their states. The actual counting of electoral votes will take place on January 6, 2025 when the Congress meets in a joint session. January 20 is the inauguration day when the president-elect becomes the President of the United States.

CHANGING DYNAMICS

Online surveys and opinion polls can only indicate the mood of the respondents and are not conclusive. Also, the charts can change dramatically in a matter of days. A better picture will emerge after the live debate between Trump and Harris on September 10 on ABC. According to Harris' campaign team, there will be another round of debate sometime in October. Trump had offered to have three rounds with Harris, but the Harris camp is yet to accept a third round.

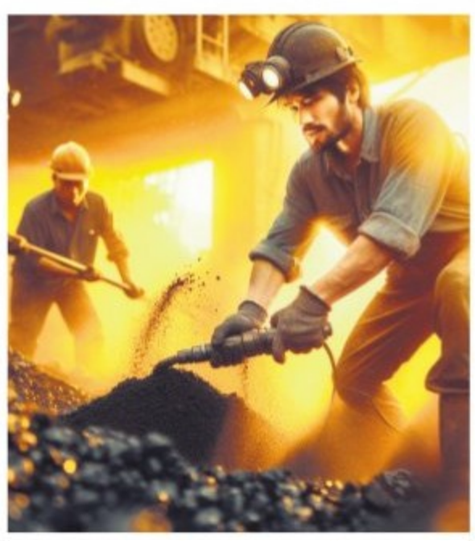
MINERAL RIGHTS

VERDICT HAILED AND PANNED AT THE SAME TIME



OVER THE YEARS

Mining of minerals like coal, iron ore, copper, lead and zinc has been going on in the country from time immemorial

However, the first recorded history of mining in India dates back to 1774 when the English Company was granted permission by the East India Company for mining coal in Raniganj

M/s John Taylor & Sons started gold mining in Kolar Gold Fields in 1880

The first oil well was drilled in Digboi in 1866 - seven years after the first ever oil well was drilled anywhere in the world, viz. in Pennsylvania State, US in 1859

Mining activities, however, remained primitive and modest in scale till the beginning of the 21st century

In 1895, the Government of India initiated steps to frame legislative measures for the safety of workmen

In 1897, the first major disaster in mining hit the Kolar Goldfields, killing 52 people

Shortly thereafter, the Khost Coal Mine disaster in Baluchistan (now in Pakistan) killed 47 people

Both disasters hastened the formulation of safety laws and the first Mines Act was enacted in 1901

The Act was superseded by the Indian Mines Act, 1923, which was again replaced by the present Mines Act, 1952. This Act came into force on July 1, 1952

The Mines Act, 1952 applies to mines of all minerals within the country, including the offshore mines within territorial water limits. Major changes were incorporated in this Act in 1959 and 1983

A recent ruling of a nine-judge Supreme Court bench on mineral rights turned out to be a double-edged sword. While it settled a 35-year-old dispute by giving states the right to impose taxes on minerals within their respective geographies, it also punched an estimated Rs 1.5-2 lakh crore hole in the Centre and the mining industry's wallets. For, it allowed states to demand retrospective tax on all transactions made after April 1, 2005. Just for comparison, the total financial impact of the Seventh Central Pay Commission that strained the exchequer was estimated at a little over Rs 1 lakh crore.

When the bench ruled on July 25 that states have taxation rights, it was celebrated for its wisdom to strengthen fiscal federalism. But the second part of the verdict on August 14 to apply it retrospectively was panned because of the wider impact on the economy as it threatened to fuel inflation further.

Though the retrospective tax will kick in on the All Fools Day after two years, and the payment has been staggered over the subsequent 12 years, it can be expected to raise the cost of mining so as to mop up additional revenue. When coal gets pricey, it raises the cost of electricity and has a cascading effect on the value chain of manufacturing. Expensive steel adversely impacts the infrastructure and real estate sectors. Ditto for other minerals.

LOOK INWARD

Let's remember, the whole controversy stems from conflicting verdicts of two Constitution benches of the Supreme Court, necessitating a third larger bench to settle the divergence. In other words, it is a judicial mess for which more that the mining sector will bleed.

On October 25, 1989, a seven-judge bench led by Sabyasachi Mukharji ruled that mineral royalty is tax, in the India Cement v. State of Tamil Nadu case. The bench said state legislatures lack the competence to impose taxes on mineral rights because the matter is covered by the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957 or MMDR Act.

But on January 15, 2004, a five-judge bench led by R C Lahoti arrived at the opposite conclusion that royalty is not tax, in the State of West Bengal v. Kesoram Industries, and attributed the India Cement ruling by the larger bench to an inadvertent error. It went on to say that the power to levy tax on mineral rights vests with the state legislatures but is subject to any limitations laid down by Parliament.

Ever since, various states exercised their legislative powers to impose taxes on mineral bearing land by applying their mineral value or royalty as the yardstick. They spawned a series of legal challenges. One such plea began in the Patna high court in 1999 and travelled to a three-judge Supreme Court bench, which on March 30, 2011, referred the dissonance between India Cement and Kesoram to a nine-judge bench. The matter became more acute after the Goods and Services Tax regime kicked in from 2016. For, if royalty is not tax, mine operators would have to pay GST on all mineral extractions.

More than a decade later, the nine-judge bench was set up by Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud last year to take up four cases, the oldest one pending for more than two decades. The Supreme Court ought to introspect as to why it took such a long time to set up the bench. The bench, after hearings on mineral rights from February 27 this year, overruled the India Cement judgment by a majority of 8:1. The 200-page judgment was authored by the Chief Justice of India for himself and on behalf of justices Hrishikesh Roy, Abhay S Oka, J B Pardiwala, Manoj Misra, Ujjal Bhuyan, Satish Chandra Sharma and Augustine George Masih.

But on whether the ruling will apply retrospectively, the bench said it generally does not prefer the prospective doctrine while upholding the legislative competence of legislatures. Prospective application, it reasoned, would result in a peculiar situation where legislations enacted by various states on mineral levy would be invalidated though the India Cement verdict had been overruled. It would also force states to refund the amount collected as tax through an enabling legislation. Though the Centre sought to assure it would not demand any recoveries or seek refunds from states, the court did not consider it.

However, taking into consideration the lapse of more than three decades since the India Cement ruling and more than a decade since the matter was referred to a larger bench, the court decided that state governments will waive the interest accrued on the principal due till July 25 this year.

THE NUB ON THE MATTER

Interpreting a few entries in the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution, which deals with the powers of the Centre and the states and matters on the concurrent list, was at the heart of the dispute. While Entry 50 of List II says, states can levy "Taxes on mineral rights subject to any limitations imposed by Parliament by law relating to mineral development," Entry 49, List II puts "Taxes on lands and buildings" in the state basket. And Entry 54 of List 1 gives the Centre the right to "Regulation of mines and mineral development to the extent to which such regulation and development under the control of the Union is declared by Parliament by law to be expedient in the public interest."

The bench ruled that royalty is not a tax but a contractual consideration paid by the mining lessee to the lessor for enjoyment of mineral rights. The payments made to the government cannot be deemed to be a tax merely because the statute provides for their recovery as arrears.

As for the legislative power to tax mineral rights, the majority verdict said it vests with the state legislatures. Parliament, it pointed out, does not have legislative competence to tax mineral rights under Entry 54 of List I, since it is a general entry. Since the power to tax mineral rights is specified in Entry 50 of List II, Parliament cannot use its residuary powers in that matter, the bench ruled.

However, Entry 50 of List II envisages that Parliament can impose "any limitations" on the legislative field created by that entry under a law relating to mineral development. But as of now, the MMDR Act has not imposed any such limitations. On balance, the scope of the expression "any limitations" is wide enough to include the imposition of restrictions, conditions, principles as well as prohibition, it ruled.

The bench went on to establish that the yield of mineral bearing land in terms of the quantity of mineral produced or the royalty, can be used as a measure to tax the land.

Justice B V Nagarathna was the lone dissenter. In her dissenting verdict, she said royalty is in the nature of a tax or an exaction and the Centre does have the power to levy it. She, however, concurred with the CJI that the scope of the expression "any limitations" under Entry 50 of List II is wide enough to include imposition of restriction, conditions, principles as well as prohibition by Parliament by law.

"The State legislatures have legislative competence under Article 246 read with Entry 49-List II to tax lands and buildings but not lands which comprise mines and quarries or have mineral deposits as mineral bearing lands do not fall within the description of lands (under Entry 49-List II)," she said in her 193-page verdict.

With complete unanimity on the powers of Parliament to legislatively impose restrictions, including prohibition, on mining rights of states, it remains to be seen if an innovative solution can be found out, as some experts suggest, to stop the hemorrhaging of the national exchequer.

Ironically, it would mean enacting a law that would apply retrospectively to kill a retrospective order.

SCOPE OF 'LIMITATIONS'

"The use of the expression "any" before "limitations" under Entry 50 of List II indicates that the scope of the limitations is expansive and includes "all" or "every" limitation that could be imposed by Parliament by law relating to mineral development. The expression "any" has to be construed in its context, taking into consideration the scheme, purpose, and subject matter of the enactment, or in this case, the scheme of distribution of legislative powers under the Constitution," the majority judgment said
